Wants Nine-Power Signatories to Act on Jap "Threat"

ENVOY SEES HULL

Renewed Fighting Near Peiping Swelling Casualty Lists

London — (AP) — The Chinese ambassador to London, Quo Tai-Chi, presented to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today a memorandum from his government setting forth the "status and circumstances of the present threat from Japan in North China."

The Chinese embassy said a similar communication had been made to all over signatories of the nine-power treaty of 1922, except Japan, and also to Russia and Germany.

The embassy estimated more than 100 Japanese airplanes and 20,000 Japanese troops already had been concentrated in the Peiping-Tientsin area where fighting broke out on July 7, and that they were "ready to precipitate a major clash at any moment."

There was no comment from the British foreign office, except the affirmation that Quo Tai-Chi had called.

Stephen Meidam, 89, Veteran of Civil War, Dies

Born in Netherlands; Was Onetime Alderman From Sixth Ward

One of three remaining Civil war veterans, Stephen Meidam, 89, 1513 N. Morrison street, died last night after an illness of six weeks. He was one of three surviving Civil war veterans in Appleton in 1935. He came to this vicinity in 1853. He had served on the city council as an alderman from the Sixth ward.

Stephen Meidam, above, 89, 1513 N. Morrison street, died last night after an illness of six weeks. He was one of three surviving Civil war veterans in Appleton in 1935. He came to this vicinity in 1853. He had served on the city council as an alderman from the Sixth ward.

Washington — (AP) — Dr. C. T. Wang, Chinese ambassador, said today he had discussed with Secretary Hull China's plea that the United States and other nine-power treaty signatories "take action" in the present Sino-Japanese crisis.

A similar memorandum, Wang said, "I went over the situation with Secretary Hull."

It was learned authoritatively that the ambassador left with Hull a memorandum setting forth China's view of the situation and a plea that it be accorded assistance by other nations.

A similar memorandum, it was learned, was presented to the foreign offices of the 14 other powers which are signatories or adherents of the so-called nine-power treaty.

Officials declined to express an opinion as to whether or not the action taken by the Chinese government in presenting its case to the 14 nations who now guarantee China's integrity through adherence to the pact constituted invocation of the pact.

Effect Not Revealed

Officials explained that the Chinese government's action might be interpreted as an informal invocation of the pact but declined to express an opinion pending a careful study of the memorandum by Hull and higher officials.

Hull has discussed the threatening Far Eastern situation with Hiroshi Saito, the Japanese ambassador, and the Chinese ambassador on several occasions.

After one conference with them the state department issued a formal statement saying the secretary had given the envoys a friendly warning to the effect that armed conflict in the Far East would be a threat to the peace of the world.

The United States, however, has taken no definite official action other than the friendly exchanges of opinion and it was said today this government has not yet made any commitments concerning the nine power pact.

Peiping — (AP) — Japanese officials declared today that renewed Sino-Japanese fighting south and south-east of Peiping had increased the total of Japanese losses in the North China conflict to 20 killed and 60 wounded.

Two Japanese were reported killed in one clash and 100 Chinese disarmed in another.

Latest scene of conflict was Anping, 28 miles south of Peiping. According to Japanese military reports Chinese troops behind the town walls fired on a Japanese column. The Japanese returned the fire, disarmed 100 Chinese and routed the rest.

(Anping—meaning tranquil peace—on the route probably taken by Japanese infantry marching from Tientsin to the Peiping area.)

Easy, When You Know How

"Swing" dancing will not last, was the verdict of Dancing Teachers' recent meet in New York. Two allegedly new steps were shown, the "Snake Hips" and "Walking the Dog." The latter novelty being that one is supposed to hold a large red handkerchief in the left hand. Him. "Them new dances 're purty easy. All ye got to do is shake yer self like a wet dog an' keep wipin' yer feet." Sounds easy, eh? Try it. Good. Used musical instruments, etc., are listed in the Post-Crescent week-ads. This one sold a piano:

PIANO — Upright, walnut, with bench. Good condition, $10. 1114 N. Lawe, Tel. 4406.

Had several calls and sold piano immediately after ad first appeared.

British Plan Gets Approval At Conference

Unanimously Accepted in London as 'Basis for Discussion'

MEETING TUESDAY

Subcommittee to Consider Details of Agreement Next Week

London — (AP) — The British compromise plan for keeping European hands off Spain was reported unanimously accepted as a "basis for discussion" today, an hour after the committee of 27 powers resumed afternoon deliberations.

A subcommittee was expected to meet Tuesday to consider details of agreement.

The conference had been recessed for several hours when Charles Corbin, French ambassador to London, said he needed time to obtain further instructions.

A French cabinet meeting, it was learned, has instructed Corbin to approve the plan "in principle" only.

The ministers, meeting with French President Albert Lebrun, decided France would insist on "substantial progress" in establishing control of Spain's ports and the withdrawal of foreign fighters before according Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco a belligerent's status.

They said they needed guarantees that the control of ports and evacuation of troops would be more than "paper promises."

The Earl of Plymouth, British chairman of the neutrality committee, formally submitted the plan to the non-intervention group today.

Dispute Remains

Italy and Germany accepted it as a basis for discussion. The critical question still remained, however, whether Italy-German and Franco-Russian differences can be reconciled.

British official opinion described reception of the proposals as "highly satisfactory" when many representatives of smaller powers accepted the plan in principle or for discussion.

The Russian member, Ambassador Ivan Maisky, had not spoken before the adjournment but the soviet, it was expected, would take the same stand as France.

Germany and Italy, who have recognized the insurgent junta as the de facto government of Spain, said they would want belligerent rights accorded immediately with the volunteer question deferred as long as possible.

Eden's Plan

Eden's proposal stipulated that recognition of belligerent rights by the 27 non-interventionist nations would become effective when their representatives on the neutrality committee decided that "arrangements for withdrawal of foreign nationals are working satisfactorily and that this withdrawal has in fact made substantial progress."

Thus, again the Locarno room of Britain's smoke-grimed foreign office held the key to Europe's future so far as this threat of general European war was concerned.

Council Adopts 1-Hour Parking Law for Avenue

Ordinance Will be Enforced When New Signs Are Erected

What Council Did:

Adopted 69-minute parking ordinance for College avenue by 11 to 1 vote.

Authorized mayor and city clerk to sign contracts for paving on W. Packard, N. Morrison and Lawe streets and Ravinia place.

Decided to hold joint meeting with water commission to determine policy of granting water service to residents living outside city.

Set date for public hearing on type of paving for S. Lawe and Washington streets and College avenue.

Ordered park board to secure plans and cost estimates for a pavilion at Erb park.

The common council last night adopted an ordinance reducing parking time on College avenue from 90 to 60 minutes and on Oneida, Appleton, and Superior streets from 2 hours to 90 minutes.

Enforcement of the ordinance will not be started until new parking signs, which have been ordered, are erected. Alderman Harriman voted against the ordinance, stating that the present parking ordinance had not been given a sufficient trial, that the new ordinance would discourage out-of-town people from shopping in the city and that the shorter parking time would cause an increase in the number of accidents on the avenue.

The mayor and city clerk were authorized to sign the contracts with Koepe Construction Company for paving on W. Packard, N. Morrison and Lawe streets and Ravinia place after a public hearing was held. The Fox River Paper company asked that the assessment against street of its property on S. Lawe street be dropped or reduced because of a switch track near the street.

Reduce Salaries Of Two Officers

Personnel Bureau Sets Up Schedule for Tax Division Employees

Madison — (AP) — Preparatory to placing the state beverage tax division under civil service, the state bureau of personnel today set up a salary schedule which reduces the pay of the chief inspector and chief enforcement officer.

These positions now are held by Thomas Hayden of Fond du Lac and Sam Woldenberg, Madison, both appointed by State Treasurer Sol Lestander of the division.

They receive $4,000 a year at present, or $333 a month. The new pay scale for each office, to be effective after Aug. 22 when civil service appointments must be made, will be $275 to $300 a month.

Acting Personnel Director A. J. Ostpedal anticipated today that close to 8,000 applicants will join in the competitive race for the 86 jobs to be filled from eligibility lists.

The bureau has not yet fixed the date for the examinations.

Since the division was created after repeal of prohibition the jobs have been handed out on what legislators charged was a "pie-count" method of distribution.

Under the law enacted this year all present job-holders will have to take their chances with other applicants for reappointment. The largest single groups are the 23 enforcement officers, 16 inspectors and 22 inventory clerks.

Hunt Desperado After Kidnaping

Son of Wealthy New York Oil Man Freed by Fleeing Convicts

Sapulpa, Okla. — (AP) — Possesmen stood watch on blockaded highways today for Roy "Pete" Traxler, the southwest's No. 1 bad man, believed fleeing northward after releasing the kidnaped son of a wealthy New York oil man.

The youth, 21-year-old Baird H. Markham, son of General Baird Markham, an official of the American Petroleum Institute, was seized near Ada, Okla.

Traxler, his left arm shattered by a bullet, and two companions, all escaped Texas convicts, took young Markham's automobile and forced him to accompany them.

Markham was released near here after 8 hours and 15 minutes during which time he said the men crisscrossed through the country, dodging a posse from which they had escaped by abandoning their own car and taking to the woods only shortly before.

Young Markham said all three men admitted they were fugitives from the Texas prison farm at Huntsville. Besides Traxler, he identified a second man as Charles Chapman. Chapman was wounded in the shoulder, Markham said.

The third man, Markham said, was referred to as "Fred." Fred Tindol of Jasper, Texas, was one of the nine men, who with Traxler and Chapman, escaped the farm amid gunfire July 8. Four of the nine were recaptured, one killed and a guard was wounded. "Fred" was not wounded.

Shawano Man Secretary Of Conservation Body

Madison — (AP) — The state conservation commission announced today that R. M. Fischer, Shawano, has been named secretary, succeeding Louis M. Robbins, Madison, retired.

E. E. Browne, Waupaca, was named to the state committee on water pollution, and James A. Corcoran, Webster, was named to the conservation warden pension board of trustees.

Fischer and Browne are recent appointees to the commission.

Phil Approves Personal Debt Payment Plan

Signs Measure Allowing Individuals to Enter Receiverships

400 BILLS SIGNED

LaFollette Permits Four Measures to Die by Pocket Veto

Madison — (AP) — A plan advanced by Dean Lloyd K. Garrison of the University of Wisconsin Law school permitting persons of low income to enter into personal receiverships for settlement of their debts became law today.

It was one of the last group of bills signed by Governor LaFollette.

The governor had cleared his desk of all measures sent to him by the legislature. Four of the remaining bills died by pocket veto—refusal of the governor to sign them—and the total of approved acts was boosted over the 400 mark.

The personal receivership plan applies only to persons whose income is less than $2,400 a year. Such a person, when heavily in debt, may apply to the court for appointment of a trustee, who will meet with his creditors and arrange an installment method for him to pay off his debts.

Avoids Garnishment

The receivership will last in each case for two years, during which time the debtor will be free from garnishment.

The governor also signed a revisor's bill bringing up to date certain sections of municipal law and a bill giving boarding houses the same protection hotels have for the arrest of guests who run out without paying their bills.

Chief among the bills vetoed was one appropriating $1,600 to Pat E. Howlett and Arthur S. Stofen, legislative clerks, for services rendered to the special senate relief investigating committee of 1935. The governor claimed the committee operated illegally without approval of both houses of the legislature.

Vetoed Measures

Reducing the fees for state examinations of foreign building and loan corporations.

Allowing the secretary of state to charge $25 for investigating ownership of out of state cars which are offered for registration without certificate of title.

Requiring the state and county government to be equally the cost of erecting an intra-state bridge over waters controlled by the federal government; applied to Lake Winnebago.

The executive office said this bill was in conflict with a recently enacted law setting up provisions for acceptance of federal highway aids.

The pocket vetoes brought the governor's total of disapproved bills to eight, four of which were messaged back to the legislature.

Legality of WDA Will Be Challenged in Court

Madison — (AP) — The Wisconsin Development Authority created to carry out the LaFollette administration's state power program, will have a test of its legality when it presents its first bill to Secretary of State Theodore Dammann for payment.

In response to a request for a ruling, the attorney general's department delivered to Dammann today the opinion it rendered to the legislature—that the $160,000 operating fund appropriated to the WDA is valid.

This leaves the question open for court determination. Dammann, who was warned by the United Taxpayers' Cooperative Association of Milwaukee that legal proceedings would be started if he approves any WDA expenses, indicated he will not release any funds without a court order.

Identify Body of Man Found Slain at LaCrosse

LaCrosse — (AP) — The body of the man found slain near the Milwaukee roundhouse last Monday morning was identified today by fingerprints as that of a transient of long standing. His name, said a report from the department of justice at Washington, was Claude Titus, and he was born at Birmingham, N. Y. Titus, the federal report stated, had been arrested at Tomah and Ft. Atkinson, Wis., and Red Wing, Minn., on vagrancy counts.

Surgeon Tells How He Gave Aid to Wounded in Memorial Day Outbreak

Chicago — (AP) — A young surgeon related today that shortly after he saw a "peaceful pleasant Sunday crowd" march toward a Republic Steel corporation plant Memorial day he was surrounded by 40 or 50 "screaming, groaning, bleeding men," who had been injured in a clash with police.

Dr. Lawrence Jacques, a doctor associated with the Civic Medical center, gave his testimony to a coroner's jury investigating the deaths of 30 men in steel strike rioting.

The inquest adjourned at noon until Monday morning. The jury, lawyers, officials and newspaper men went to Paramount Motion picture offices this afternoon to view newsreel pictures of the rioting.

Court Bill Foes Reply To Roosevelt Demand For Action This Term

President Leads Nation's Notables in Last Tribute At Bier of Sen. Robinson

Settlement of Happ Estate Seen After U. S. Taxes are Paid

Washington — (AP) — The nation's great, led by President Roosevelt, paid their last respects today to Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader of the senate.

At the stroke of noon the throng of frock-coated dignitaries marched into the gold-and-marble senate chamber for a simple state funeral. The air was heavy with the fragrance of flowers.

Linon-clad spectators crowded the galleries.

The dead leader's massive silver casket, almost hidden by wreaths, occupied the center of the hall. An arm's length away stood the empty chair Robinson had used during the last of his 24 years in the senate.

Special seats flanking the bier were occupied by her immediate relatives, Mrs. Robinson, her brothers, Charles and Grady Miller, and their families; Joseph Brewer and Joseph Robinson, Jr., nephews of the senator, and their wives.

Mrs. Caraway Present

Mrs. Hattie W. Caraway, Robinson's colleague from Arkansas, sat next to her nephew, Fred Stanhill, shortly before her death, is to be exempt from gift taxation, but subject to inheritance tax.

The case has been in the courts nearly three years. A purported will of 1933 and an earlier will of 1924 were rejected in decisions sustained by the supreme court and Mrs. Hattie was declared to have died intestate with Stanhill and Mrs. Bernice Spoo, a niece, the only heirs.

Judge McDonald estimated the value of the estate today at approximately $400,000.

Ryan Resigns as Purchasing Agent Of Kimberly-Clark

Neenah — W. H. Ryan, 219 S. Morrison street, Appleton, who has been in the service of the Kimberly-Clark corporation for 46 years, tendered his resignation today as a director of the company, general purchasing agent and traffic manager, S. F. Shattuck, vice president, said today.

Promotion of Lyle C. Stipp to the position of general purchasing agent and W. K. Austin to the post of traffic manager was also announced by Mr. Shattuck.

Mr. Ryan's resignation becomes effective at the convenience of the company management. His association with the K-C corporation dates from July 1, 1899, when he entered the Telulah mill at Appleton as a clerk. He returned to school to complete his education in 1890 and then returned to his position at the Appleton mill.

After three years at the Appleton mill, Mr. Ryan was promoted to the position of office manager of the Kimberly mill where he served another three years. He then graduated to the management of the Niagara mill where he served for 20 years. The accumulated experience of his 26 years with the corporation made him the logical choice for the joint position of general purchasing agent and traffic manager, functions of which he has discharged for the last 19 years.

Expect Murphy to Settle Walkout

Operators of Michigan Truck Lines to Ask Governor to Intervene

Detroit — (AP) — The Statewide Michigan strike tying up from 3,000 to 8,000 trucks continued today with both sides looking to Governor Frank Murphy for a solution.

Operators of truck lines doing business entirely within Michigan assembled in Lansing today and it was indicated the governor would be asked to intervene.

The governor said Thursday he was confident of a quick settlement. A temporary settlement affecting the six trucking firms operating from Port Huron, Mich., was announced last night by company officials and Louis Anderson, president of Port Huron Local 339 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers.

The joint statement issued at Port Huron said 150 drivers would return to work at once for a 30-day period during which grievances would be studied and a permanent settlement sought.

The degree of effectiveness of the strike caused conflicting claims. J. M. O'Laughlin, business agent for the union, said in Detroit that 8,000 of the 19,000 interstate trucks operating in Michigan were idle. Truck firm operators countered with an assertion that no more than 3,000 trucks were tied up.

Interstate and city truck movement have not been affected by the strike.

Rescue Squad Saves Baraboo Farm Child

Baraboo, Wis. — (AP) — Margaret Premo, aged 2, was recovering today in St. Mary's hospital—thanks to the perseverance of an electric company's rescue squad.

Yesterday the child was discovered by her brother, Floyd, 6, floating face down in the watering tank on the farm of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Premo, near here. The father summoned the inhalator squad of the Wisconsin Power and Light company from Baraboo.

The inhalator was applied for a full hour before the girl began to breathe normally. She was rushed to the hospital, where attendants today said she was in no danger.

Elderly Man Is Killed When Struck by Auto

Rhinelander — (AP) — August Herman, 77, Minocqua township resident, was instantly killed late last night when struck by a car driven by Carl Christopherson, Woodruff, on Highway 51 near Hazelhurst. An old age pensioner, Herman was Oneida county's fifth traffic victim this year.

Roosevelt Friend Says President Not To Enter 1940 Race

Washington — (AP) — Judge John E. Mack, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who twice nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt for president, said today the chief executive would not run for a third term.

"The next Democratic presidential nominee," Mack told reporters, "will not be Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Mack is a lifelong friend and neighbor of the president. He was here today for a national labor relations board hearing.

Sweet Corn Makes Its Appearance on Appleton Markets

Home Grown Strawberries No Longer Available, Dealers Report

Sweet corn made its initial appearance on Appleton markets today. The corn is shipped in from the southern part of Wisconsin and is selling for about 2 cents an ear, dealers reported this morning. Home grown strawberries are completely gone but the ever-bearing variety is being sold for about 25 cents a quart.

A better grade of fruits and vegetables can be purchased and a larger selection of fresh fruits and vegetables is now available. All prices quoted are for better grade produce. Peas are selling for about 25 cents for two pounds while string beans are about 4 cents higher for two pounds.

New potatoes vary from 29 to 45 cents a peck and tomatoes vary from two pounds for 25 cents to one pound for 35 cents. Lemons sell three for a dime and from 39 to 45 cents a dozen. Oranges vary from 23 to 39 cents a dozen and a quarter will buy four grapefruits.

Watermelons are slightly lower with a variation of 35 cents to 40 cents a watermelon and cantaloupe sell for 10 cents apiece to two for 25 cents. Honeydew melons sell from 29 to 35 cents each depending upon the size. Raspberries are priced at 20 to 25 cents a quart depending upon the quality while blueberries have gone down to 29 cents a quart.

Best quality carrots are priced at two bunches for 17 cents and a dime can buy three bunches of radishes. Green onions are from 9 to 11 cents for three bunches and cucumbers are from 5 to 10 cents apiece. Cauliflower sells for 10, 15 and 19 cents a head while cabbage is approximately three pounds for 10 cents.

New transparent apples are selling on an average of five pounds for a quarter, plums vary from 15 cents a dozen to 25 cents for two dozen. Four cherries for plums are about two quarts for 25 cents and peaches are in the neighborhood of two pounds for 25 cents.

Leaf lettuce is priced at 5 cents a bunch while large heads of lettuce are selling two for 15 cents. Two bunches of celery may be had for 15 cents and bananas are about 25 cents for four pounds. Apricots for canning purposes are selling at about two pounds for 29 cents. Beets are about 5 cents a bunch.

120 Highway Workers on Strike in Oconto County

Oconto — One hundred and twenty Oconto county highway workers were on strike today after the Oconto county board yesterday voted to refuse their demand for recognition of their truck drivers' union, affiliated with the A. F. of L. The workers originally struck on June 24 but returned to work July 1 under a truce, pending the meeting of the county board. Originally wages increases and union recognition were demanded. Yesterday, workers declared the wage increases were not so important at this time as the union recognition. The payoff tied up an estimated quarter million dollar repair and improvement program on state and county highways, throwing many WPA workers into idleness. No attempt was being made to operate and no picketing was in evidence today.

50 Boats Expected to Enter Green Bay Regatta

About 50 pleasure craft, including the smaller sailing vessels, yachts and power cruisers are expected to participate in Green Bay's first annual regatta. The regatta is being held at Bay Beach park Saturday and Sunday, July 24 and 25. It is expected that some Appleton boats will compete in the races which are being sponsored by the WPA at Green Bay. Some girls will be selected as queen to rule over the festival and two attendants also will be selected.

Warn Cyclists Against Hitchhiking Rides on Cars

With the growing popularity of the bicycle, a new traffic danger comes into the limelight, according to a bulletin of the National Safety Council received at the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. Hitchhiking rides on trucks and automobiles is a dangerous practice of some bicycle riders and it often ends in tragedy. The safety council points out in urging all drivers to keep on alert for "ride-hitchhikers" and to discourage them. The traffic council will during the next few weeks study the advisability of creating a bicycle ordinance for the city.

Wading Pool Will be Built in Telulah Park

A wading pool will be built at Telulah park in the Fourth ward. The common council last night approved a resolution asking for the pool and referred the matter to the park board. A petition signed by about 50 residents of the Fourth ward asking for the wading pool was filed with the city clerk this morning.

Twenty men were crushed and burned to death and three others were seriously injured in an explosion in the Glendora company's Baker mine, five miles from Sullivan, Ind. The explosion occurred half an hour after 203 went into the mine to start the day's work. A portion of the crowd of hundreds of relatives and friends who assembled at the mine entrance, is shown here. They waited patiently for the men to come out or news of those who failed to return.

Today and Tomorrow

By Walter Lippman

Would a Filibuster be Undemocratic?

Senator Robinson's friends were more numerous than his partisan supporters. For he had the capacity, so essential to the working of representative government, to be a staunch partisan without injecting into his politics the struggles of the poison of hatred and irreconcilability. He fought cleanly, and he passed away leaving a multitude of opponents who are still his friends. It is a tragic pity that he had to die when he did, as the leader of a cause that he would never have espoused on his own personal convictions alone. No doubt he was doing his duty as he saw it. And though the last acts of his life are associated with a cause that is discredited, he will be remembered for the essential honesty and good will which marked his leadership.

Justified if Necessary To Stop Court Bill

A commentator, who supports the judiciary bill, said the other day that the "filibuster is the negation of democracy." His theory is that 51 per cent of any assembly is entitled at any time to override the other 49 per cent. That is not my conception of democracy, and I am prepared to argue that, given the circumstances surrounding the judiciary bill, a filibuster will be fully justified if it is necessary to prevent enactment of the bill at this session of congress.

Arithmetic Majority May Not Be Enough

The American conception of democracy is not, as some few seem to think, based on the rule of an arithmetic majority. The inner principle of the American constitution is derived from the conviction of the Founding Fathers that in great matters the true majority must be much greater than a bare majority, and that convinced minorities must not be easily overridden. Thus the president may veto the acts of a bare majority of both houses, and only a two-thirds vote can prevail against his veto. I have yet to hear a New Dealer say that the veto power of one man is the negation of democracy. The legislative branch of the government is not designed to establish the rule of arithmetic majorities. For the senators represent very unequal numbers of voters. I have heard no argument that this is the negation of democracy. The senate cannot ratify treaties by an arithmetic majority. The congress cannot even submit constitutional amendments to the people unless two-thirds of both houses agree.

At Least Forty in Senate Oppose Bill

In the Senate today, out of ninety-six members, there are at least forty who are deeply opposed to the judiciary bill. There are more than forty who have declared themselves in favor of it and it is common and indubitable knowledge that a fair number of this forty are for it only because of partisan loyalty. It is no less evident to all competent observers that the leaders of the opposition are moved by a deep conviction whereas the advocates, with astonishingly few exceptions, have no heart for the work they are doing.

There Remains a Group of Uncommitted Senators

One of them, Senator Robert Wagner of New York, is particularly interesting and significant. Senator Wagner has been more numerous than his partisan supporters. For he had the capacity, so essential to the working of representative government, to be a staunch partisan without injecting into his politics the struggles of the poison of hatred and irreconcilability. He fought cleanly, and he passed away leaving a multitude of opponents who are still his friends. It is a tragic pity that he had to die when he did, as the leader of a cause that he would never have espoused on his own personal convictions alone. No doubt he was doing his duty as he saw it. And though the last acts of his life are associated with a cause that is discredited, he will be remembered for the essential honesty and good will which marked his leadership.

Severson Spells Power in State Legislature

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — Herman J. Severson, veteran Iowa, Waupaca county, senator, is recognized by friend and foe alike as the most influential member of the state legislature. Oldest member of the state senate, during his 20 year legislative career, he has sponsored more important legislation than almost any other present or former member. Despite his real importance in the LaFollette administration forces, he is a quiet, unassuming man, and visitors in the senate gallery are not likely to recognize him as the foremost of the Progressive party's representatives in the state's highest legislative body. Senator Severson is one of Governor LaFollette's closest advisers, as was proven this week when the chief executive invited him to Madison next week to discuss the subjects to be included in the special session of the legislature later this summer. Although he is looked upon to push administration measures through in the senate, Severson is also independent, and will not support a measure which he believes is unwise. This was strikingly illustrated early in the 1937 session when the governor sought to have his judicial retirement bill, through which state supreme court and circuit court judges would have been retired on half pay, through Senator Severson's judiciary committee. The Iowa member promptly informed the governor that he would have nothing to do with the measure. He didn't and it died. Sponsored Labor Bill Because of his influence, and because of the high regard in which he is held by his fellow members in the senate, Senator Severson was asked by the administration to sponsor the celebrated labor disputes bill. That bill, considered by many to be the most significant piece of legislation enacted in Wisconsin in many years, is now on the statutes and bears his name. Without his support of the measure, many observers felt that the measure would not have passed. He also sponsored, unsuccessfully, a bill to establish a state system of automobile insurance, and introduced an appropriation bill to provide a new gymnasium at the Stevens Point state teachers' college. The latter measure died on account of early adjournment, which he also conceived. Annoyed at Horseplay Severson early became annoyed at the horseplay and procrastination of his legislative colleagues, and shrewdly introduced the adjournment resolution one morning when the senators, tired and hopeless of getting anywhere, were ready to vote for anything. With the house calendars stacked to overflowing, Severson succeeded, with the blessing of the governor, in passing the July 2 adjournment resolution with a unanimous vote. Several weeks later, the governor's lieutenants forced through the measure in the assembly, with the result that the legislature went home on July 2 with about one-third of its work unfinished. Senator Severson also succeeded in passing resolutions directing the secretary of state to report lobbyists to both houses periodically, and endorsing the "Wisconsin Good Will Tours."

Start Collecting Past Due Accounts For Paupers' Cases

Waupaca County Promised $20,000 in Payments By Other Counties

Waupaca — The first concentrated effort in the history of Waupaca county to collect past due accounts from other counties for paupers living within the county is being carried on successfully. At present there are 45 cases which are to be brought before the Wisconsin Industrial Commission for legal settlement, all between 10 and 15 years old, unless payment be made at once. Several counties have already promised payment which will net the county approximately $20,000 before the summer is over, and $40,000 is due the county from these outstanding accounts. The counties most deeply involved are Marathon, Portage, Oneida, Wood, Langlade, Winnebago, Sheboygan and Manitowish.

P. J. Jensen, supervisor from the town of Farmington and chairman of the special pauper committee, is assisting L. J. Steiger, county clerk, in the work. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bacher and son, Billy, left Thursday for Duluth where they will be guests of Mrs. Bacher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Weiland, for several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Yorkson and son, Tom, will leave Saturday for St. Paul where they will spend several days with Mrs. Yorkson's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyles. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calkins left Thursday for Worthington, Minn., to visit the latter's daughter, Mrs. Swift E. Rowlands, for three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Greiner had as their guests Thursday Miss Anna Paltzer of Chicago, Mrs. H. E. Bathke of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Phelan Van Rysen, Mrs. Carl Becker and Miss Rena Courtney of Appleton. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Parmenter and daughter, Patricia of Syracuse, N. Y., who have spent the last two weeks at the home of Mrs. Parmenter's mother, Mrs. Rob Pope, left this week for California, by automobile and trailer, where they will visit brothers of Mr. Parmenter. They will go by way of the Black Hills and Yellowstone National park. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor will spend the weekend in Milwaukee at the home of Mrs. Anna Kelly, mother of Mrs. Taylor. Miss Charlotte Luther is spending this week in Madison, having gone with her brother, Don, and his wife, when they returned to their home in that city after a week spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Luther. Girl Scouts who are attending camp at Onaway Island this week are Ruth Pflum, Arlene Fabricious, Patsy Lord, Edna Smith, Irene Mather, Shirley Hanson, Charlotte Dance, Beverly Hoffmann, Betty Cartwright, Betty Burns, Natalie Smith and Lorraine Jensen.

Municipalities League To Meet at Fond du Lac

Fond du Lac will be host to the League of Wisconsin Municipalities at its thirty-ninth annual convention Sept. 16 and 17. Mayor Goodland has been informed. Cities making proposals to be considered at the conclave have been notified to have them sent to the league headquarters at Madison by Aug. 15. The meeting is being planned as a short course on city government. There will be sectional meetings for clerks, finance officers, city attorneys, public works boards, parks and recreation boards.

Dim Lights for Safety

Madison — The citizens' welfare committee, in a formal release of its complete report, said today that work programs are preferable to direct relief and can be operated on a feasible and practical basis. The committee said Wisconsin cannot depend upon the federal government to continue work programs indefinitely and yet it appears inevitable that some form of work program will have to be carried on. "Wisconsin must determine the policy that the state will adopt to ward such a program," the report said. "If the state does not carry on or participate in a work plan it must accept the burden of direct relief."

Burdens May Grow

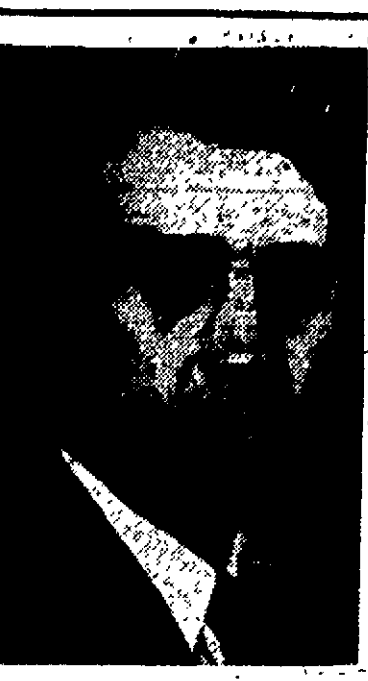

It said relief in the agricultural districts is now bound up with special federal programs and if these are withdrawn or restricted the responsibility will fall back on the state and local units of government. The committee's report was the basis for a bill introduced at the regular session of the legislature to make a complete revision of all Wisconsin welfare laws, both charitable and penal. The measure was so exhaustive no attempt was made to act upon it, but it may be revived at the special session Governor LaFollette is planning. The general trend of the committee's report is that public assistance for those suffering handicaps, economic or physical, is necessary and should not be handled on a "dole" method, but rather on a scientific, long-time basis.

New Pastor to Conduct Lutheran Mission Services at Village Hall

Kimberly — Lutheran mission services will be held at the village hall 9:30 Sunday morning. They will be conducted by the Rev. Willmar Wichmann of Sanborn, Minn., pastor. The theme of his sermon Sunday will be "The Unshakable Foundation of a Joyous Faith."

The Rev. Mr. Wichmann will be ordained and installed at 7:30 Sunday evening July 25, in the village hall. The Rev. F. Brandt of Appleton will be in charge of the installation and ordination and will be assisted by other pastors. Mr. Wichmann graduated from the Northwestern college at Watertown, Wis., in 1930. He attended the University of Wisconsin and was a public high school teacher for four years, holding positions in Rome and Johnson Creek, Wis.

In the fall of 1934 he enrolled at the Evangelical Lutheran Seminary at Thienerville, Wis., and graduated June 10 of this year. The mission board of Wisconsin Synod gave Rev. Wichmann the assignment to canvass Kimberly, Little Chute and Combined Locks to ascertain how many Lutherans there were to welcome the mission. A report of this canvass was submitted to the mission board which deemed it advisable to start services at Kimberly. From thirty to forty families ex-

Weyauwega Church To Celebrate 65th Anniversary Sunday

Weyauwega — St. Peter's Lutheran church of Weyauwega will celebrate its sixty-fifth anniversary Sunday.

The Rev. Erdman Pankow of Green Lake, will be the speaker at the 10:15 German service in the morning, and the Rev. E. Benjamin Shluter of Oshkosh will give a talk during the English service at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At noon a dinner will be served to the public by members of the congregation, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society. Special music will be offered by musical organizations during the afternoon services. The Weyauwega Lutheran choir, quartet will sing "Du Hirte Israel" by Bartini, and "Praise Ye the Lord" by Moller, with Kurt Oswald at the pipe organ.

pressed their desire to have a Lutheran church here.

More than seventy-five invitations have been sent out this week to families in Kimberly, Little Chute, Combined Locks and rural routes 3 and 4 out of Appleton. Church services will be held every Sunday. Next fall Sunday school classes will be conducted.

State Officials To Inspect Site Of Proposed Park

Report Conservation Com- mission Asked to Initiate Two Rivers Project

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The proposed state park at Two Rivers Point, "the coolest spot in Wisconsin," which according to its sponsors will serve the upper lake shore and Fox river valley area, moved a step nearer reality this week with the announcement that the state conservation commission will make an inspection of the site next month.

Fathered by a Two Rivers community club, the park was before the legislature for more than three months, but that body adjourned without taking final action.

According to reports, the commission has been asked to initiate the park project itself, through an appropriation from its forestry funds so that options on one third of the 6,000 acre tract in the Rawleigh Point lighthouse area above Two Rivers will not expire.

Proponents of the park had supported a legislative bill to appropriate $40,000 for the land purchase. The measure was amended drastically to provide for participation by the cities of Manitowish and Two Rivers, both of which are pushing the idea, but died in the final days of the session.

Appleton Jaces Will Attend Two Picnics

Two picnics are in store for members of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce. The annual group picnic will be held at High Cliff park Monday, July 19, and the 1937 Wisconsin State J. C. C. picnic will be held at Hollywood park, Fond du Lac county, Sunday, Aug. 1.

Menasha Jaces have been invited to join in the picnic Monday which will begin about 4:30 in the afternoon and more than 100 persons are expected to attend. Games, contests and out-of-town entertainment will feature the entertainment program.

The Oshkosh Jaces will be hosts to state groups and the ladies are invited. Activities will begin at 9:30 in the morning and social dancing is planned in the evening.

Seek Renewal of Grant For Marinette Hospital

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac is seeking to reinstate a PWA hospital project in Marinette.

A grant of $144,000 was allocated for the project last October, Duffy said, and then was rescinded in February because sponsors of the project were not prepared to go ahead with construction at that time.

Duffy has contacted PWA officials asking for an extension of time and reallocation of the PWA funds.

Credit Exchange Will Hold Picnic August 9

The credit exchange of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce will hold a picnic at Stroebe's island Monday, Aug. 9. D'Arcy McGee is chairman of the committee on arrangements which includes Eli Jandrin, Miss Mary Waterman and Miss Mary Balliet.

War Hero to be Guest At Vets' Encampment

A military notable who has been awarded all three of the decorations authorized by congress for outstanding bravery and service in the United States army has been invited to be one of the distinguished guests of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at its thirty-eighth annual encampment Aug. 29-Sept. 3 at Buffalo, N. Y. He is Major General Charles Evans Kilbourne, commander of the sixth corps area, who has been in the regular United States army since 1893.

He has received the congressional medal of honor, the Distinguished Service cross and the Distinguished Service medal as well as the French Croix de Guerre and Legion of Honor, the Philippine medal and Victory medal of the Norwegian Order of St. Olav. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American war, Philippine insurrection, Boxer rebellion and World war.

Farm Home Now Has It on Castle

County Agent Told Rural Residences are Better Than Medieval Palaces

A well-planned modern farmhouse can be far ahead of the old-time castle in comfort, protection and convenience, R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agricultural agent, was informed today in a bulletin from Wallace Ashby of the United States Bureau of Electrical Engineering.

There are termites which attack the house itself, there are the housefly and the mosquito which may carry disease, the rats and mice which destroy property and also may carry disease at times, fire and decay, and other enemies that may take away the very house itself. Add such adverse factors as discomfort, and drudgery, which are still to be found in thousands of farmhouses.

"Many farmhouses will be built or remodeled this year," says Mr. Ashby in calling attention to the wealth of information now available on modern farmhouse construction.

An example is Farmers' Bulletin 1938 "Farmhouse Plans"—40 plans prepared by the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering in cooperation with the various state colleges. Others are Farmers' Bulletin 1749, "Modernizing Farmhouses"—plans of several farmhouses actually remodeled; Farmers' Bulletin 1649, "Construction of Chimneys and Fireplaces" and Farmers' Bulletin 1838, "Heating the Farm Home." These bulletins and a list of others which deal with the construction of farmhouses and other farm buildings may be obtained from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

100 Employed in Survey of Valley

Work to Continue About 6 Months, Land Inventory Office Reports

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Work on the land economic inventory in the Fox river valley counties is progressing very satisfactorily, and will continue for about six more months, the state office of the Wisconsin land economic inventory said here yesterday.

Surveyors are now at work in Outagamie, Brown, Calumet, Manitowish and Door counties, Harry Cummertford, assistant director, said. About 100 men are employed on the project, which when completed, will furnish the basis for another of the series of regional studies published by the department during the last three years.

It has not yet been decided whether the results of the survey will be published separately by counties, it was said. That will depend on the funds available when the work is completed.

The land inventory division is a part of the executive office, and has an appropriation for this year of $11,000. Many of its surveys are made with the cooperation of the WPA, which provides the field men.

Dim Lights for Safety

There are dim lights which attack the house itself, there are the housefly and the mosquito which may carry disease, the rats and mice which destroy property and also may carry disease at times, fire and decay, and other enemies that may take away the very house itself.

Paper Institute Is Filling Purpose, Director Reports

Steele Points to Results of Cooperative Effort of Education, Industry

Results of the cooperative enterprise between education and industry in the Institute of Paper Chemistry were outlined by Westbrook Steele, executive director of the institute, in a talk last night at a dinner meeting at North Shore Country club. The dinner celebrated the anniversary of the fifty-fifth anniversary of the Gilbert Paper company at Menasha.

The record of its graduates in industry justifies the statement that it is fulfilling its major function, the training of man power for an industry, Steele said of the institute.

"The Gilbert Paper company employed our first graduate and this year took another of our students," said Mr. Steele. "That I hope is tradition!"

History of many industries reveals that quality products can best be produced with an understanding of the raw materials used, plus adequate control of the manufacturing process, the executive director said.

When research disclosed the more nearly ideal characteristics of steel, science pointed the way to develop and retain these desirable attributes.

Technicians then found means of controlling the processes of manufacture so that resulting products might be more uniform. This knowledge led to production of special uses and revolutionized many industries, including the automobile and chemical manufacturing, Mr. Steele continued.

Old, antedating the industrial revolution by many generations. It has grown principally as an art based on skill and empirical methods, which in the early days were usually passed from father to son.

Engineering was broadly and early recognized, and was rated as more important than chemistry because its specific function did not interfere with the art itself, while chemistry did. It was believed neither the process of manufacture nor the properties of paper products could be changed or improved or controlled. During the last several decades, the paper industry has been going through a transition period from an industry based upon an art to one based on and controlled by science. Economy of time or materials meant little to the early papermaker, the finished article being his chief objective.

The industrial revolution substituted the machine for laborious process of making paper by hand and made possible a continuous web of material. It did not alter the paper making process itself. Paradoxically enough, paper making became even more of an art. Just as the personality of the craftsman was mirrored in his handiwork, so was the identity of each paper machine reflected in the article it produced. The individuality of the machine was as discernible as the individuality of the expert who ran it.

Processes Change
The intuitiveness of the paper expert continued to hold sway long after the nineteenth century had been turned. Then science with its precise measurements and technical control began its inroad into the processes of the industry. A more closely controlled product resulted. In the early transition stages, the chemist or engineer, were used as an adjunct to the commercial plant, with a closely circumscribed field.

The chemist was to analyze the final product or the raw material, just as the engineer evaluated the mechanical equipment or designed its changes. With the technical approach defined and explained, the limitations of the finished product, the technical field of activity enlarged until it embraced the examination and evaluation of the materials used in the process, whether they were purchased or developed within the mill or its subsidiary.

It also embraced an examination and evaluation of other products or materials available for mill use and a further investigation of the economic advantages or disadvantages that would accrue from these possible substitute materials. It extended to a control of processes to develop specific characteristics in the end product, to expand the natural limitations of the end product, to develop new products which in turn could replace the existing material in common use.

Change Incomplete
This transformation from an art to a science is not complete, Steele said. While the individual whose training lies wholly in the field of engineering or of engineering normally would pursue the problem only from his specialized training, the broad training of the engineer would seek its solution with recognition of both the engineering and chemical requirements of the process and the products concerned.

In the period since 1910, the contribution the technician has made to the paper industry is almost immeasurable. Radical developments in machine design, affecting nearly every paper machine, resulted in increased speed with larger units. The engineer also improved methods of driving equipment, introduced electrification and eliminated friction loss. Mill buildings have been built larger and are better designed. Economy and improvement of product have resulted from simplified piping layouts, increased efficiency of pumps and proper lubrication. Rapid developments in power, upon which the industry is dependent, also have aided.

The chemistry of the process has been defined and developed and wastes of energy and material have been eliminated. A great procession of new paper products has come into the field to meet new requirements dictated by new uses and to replace many other materials.

Institute Begins
Necessity and cost of fundamental research, the difficulty of finding scientific trained recruits and respect.

Results of the cooperative enterprise between education and industry in the Institute of Paper Chemistry were outlined by Westbrook Steele, executive director of the institute, in a talk last night at a dinner meeting at North Shore Country club. The dinner celebrated the anniversary of the fifty-fifth anniversary of the Gilbert Paper company at Menasha.

The record of its graduates in industry justifies the statement that it is fulfilling its major function, the training of man power for an industry, Steele said of the institute.

"The Gilbert Paper company employed our first graduate and this year took another of our students," said Mr. Steele. "That I hope is tradition!"

History of many industries reveals that quality products can best be produced with an understanding of the raw materials used, plus adequate control of the manufacturing process, the executive director said.

Court Dismisses Murder Charges

Milwaukee Judge Acts on Prosecutor's Motion at Preliminary Hearing

Milwaukee—(7)—District Judge George E. Page today dismissed first degree murder charges against Frank La Galbo, 29, and Michele Mineo, 40, both of Milwaukee.

The charges were brought by police after the killing of William Jack Dentice, a former bootlegger. District Attorney Herbert J. Steffes moved dismissal at a preliminary hearing.

"The police department has not as yet presented to us sufficient evidence to proceed with the preliminary examination," Steffes told the court in a prepared statement when La Galbo's case was called.

"The holding of a preliminary examination at this time would prematurely expose the evidence gathered by the police and seriously hamper, if not entirely frustrate the further investigation by them that is necessary."

Consequently, rather than have jeopardy attach, the state moves to dismiss the warrant against this defendant.

Dentice was slain June 8 while seated in an automobile in the third ward. Police said they believe he was killed because he attempted to "muscle in" on an alcohol racket. Steffes read a similar statement when charges against Mineo were dismissed.

Directory of Public Officers Goes to Press

The directory of city officers and boards and common council members have gone to the printers and will be ready for distribution in the near future, according to Carl Becher, city clerk. Printing of the booklets was delayed pending action on proposed change of a council rule pertaining to city purchases.

RECOVER STOLEN CAR
An automobile, owned by Roy Bishop, Seymour, was found abandoned in the town of Oneida yesterday by Jack Frenz, county highway patrolman. The machine was stolen last Saturday night north of Seymour.

The tedious costly selection of materials with capacity and adaptability and the expensive inadequate industrial techniques for printing initiated the novice to mill procedures brought about the cooperative effort of one industry and one educational institution. In 1929 a group of progressive executives, representing 19 leading pulp and paper mills in the state, joined with the American Paper Institute in founding of a graduate school, the Institute of Paper Chemistry, according to Mr. Steele.

The institute was to have a 3-fold purpose, education of man power specifically for the paper industry; establishment of a library with the ultimate aim of gathering all available scientific literature pertaining to pulp and paper and its chemistry and process; a scientific research in the fundamental problems of the pulp and paper industry.

It was hoped this would bring about assistance in the selection and education of specially trained men, the development of fundamental scientific knowledge in a hitherto only partially explored field and to build further industrial development.

61 Concerns Included
The institute now has expended to include contributions from 61 concerns, representing 174 pulp and paper mills scattered over every important papermaking center in the United States, coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf. Its equipment represents an investment of approximately a million dollars in three large buildings. Its library is reputed to be the finest in its field and there are 76 staff members. Of the present staff, 27 devote their time to research.

It accepts only students who have received a degree from a recognized college or university. The student body has been drawn from 63 different American universities and colleges. Located in 77 different states. The first year class of 15 members is selected from 300 applicants and the entire student body is never more than 40.

Students are required to spend a period from June to the middle of September each summer in a paper mill. Within seven miles of the school every type of paper, with the exception of rope manila, is manufactured or converted. Allied industries supplying materials and machinery for papermaking are located near by making the Fox river valley unique in this respect.

Petitions Seeking Early Action on Crop Control Plan

Five are Being Circulated in Congress; Fear Low Prices Next Year

Washington—(7)—Five petitions circulated today among members of congress appealing for early enactment of farm legislation embracing the "ever-normal" granary and crop control.

The petitions expressed alarm over the possibility next year's farm surpluses will bring disastrously low prices. Several administration leaders signed them.

The request for action at this session followed final congressional approval yesterday of a modified farm tenancy program and the introduction of a proposed "AAA of 1937" by Senator Pope (D-Iowa).

A bill along the same line has been offered in the house by Representative Flannagan (D-Va.). Chairman Jones (D-Texas) of the house agriculture committee called Pope's measure impractical and said he would have one of his own ready within a few days.

The suggested "AAA of 1937" contains Secretary Wallace's "ever-normal" granary theory. It was sponsored by Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and endorsed in principle by Wallace.

The "ever-normal" granary contemplates the storage of crops during years there are surpluses, and their release for consumption during years of short yields.

The tenancy measure sent to the White House provides for the spending of $10,000,000 the first year, $25,000,000 the next and $50,000,000 each subsequent year.

It also authorizes the expenditures of $10,000,000 the first year and $20,000,000 each of the next two years to retire crop lands not worth cultivating.

Jones said the program was "only a drop in the bucket" compared with what is needed for the nation's 2,500,000 farm tenants. He estimated the first year's appropriation would help between 2,500 and 3,000 acquire farms. Tenancy has been increasing, he added, at the rate of 40,000 a year.

DEATHS
LAST FUNERAL
Funeral services for Ernest Last, 1925 Newberry street, who died Monday afternoon, were held at 1:45 Thursday afternoon at the Wichmann Funeral home and at 2 o'clock at the St. Paul Lutheran church with the Rev. F. M. Brandt in charge. Burial was in Riverside cemetery. Bearers were George Steiner, Peter Schaefer, Frank Brueggemann, Ernest Brueggemann, Vernon Lietz and Fred Lietz.

TIED FUNERAL
Funeral services for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Tiedt, town of Center, who died Wednesday, were held at the Brettschneider Funeral home Thursday afternoon. Burial was in the St. John Lutheran church cemetery in the town of Center.

MRS. EFFIE CAMPFIELD
Word has been received in Appleton of the death on July 8 of Mrs. Effie Campfield, Laclede, Idaho, a sister of Mrs. Hattie Lutz and Mrs. Nettie Lutz, Appleton. The two Appleton women visited their sister in Laclede about seven years ago.

MORRISON FUNERAL
Masons will meet at the Masonic temple at 1:30 Saturday afternoon and proceed to the Riverside cemetery where they will conduct services at 2 o'clock at the grave of Ernest W. Morrison, former Appleton resident who died at Milwaukee Wednesday. Services will be held in Milwaukee at 10 o'clock in the morning.

It Is Said--
That the lagoon built this spring in the southeast section of Erb park has become one of the outstanding beauty spots of the city parks. A large variety of flowers were planted about the lagoon and water plants in the pond and most of them are in bloom at present.

That plans of Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, to mount the head of a large fish caught recently in Canada came to an abrupt halt this week. He had been drying the head on board on the rear porch at his home and last night about half of the head disappeared. A stray cat is believed to have done the trick.

CHARGE DISMISSED
A charge of violation of a city ordinance regulating junk dealers by Edward Resenfeld, Chicago, were dismissed in municipal court yesterday afternoon by Judge Fred V. Heinemann, who ruled that the man was brought in under the wrong ordinance. Resenfeld was arrested by Appleton police and accused of soliciting old gold in the city without a license.

COMMITTEE MEETING
The insurance committee of the Outagamie county board met yesterday afternoon at the courthouse. Insurance policies due for renewal next month were discussed.

The Rev. C. E. Newton (right), 51, was held in jail at Pittsfield, Ill., for questioning in the death of Mrs. Dennis Kelly, (left), 45, whose body was found in the Mississippi river. Mr. Newton denied any knowledge of the slaying. A packet containing $1,830 presumably taken from Mrs. Kelly has been turned over to the sheriff at Pittsfield.

Rosenberg Will Not Face Tax Charge if He Makes Payments

Milwaukee—(7)—United States District Attorney B. J. Hustling said yesterday, he had recommended to federal authorities that an income tax evasion charge pending against I. J. Rosenberg, imprisoned former president of the Liberty State bank, be dropped if Rosenberg makes up back tax payments.

Hustling said he had recommended acceptance of a compromise offer made by Rosenberg for settlement of his $197,467 tax debt.

He added he would oppose dropping the tax evasion charge if Rosenberg was paroled before serving his full term at Waupun. Rosenberg was sentenced to one to five years in 1932 on a charge of violating the banking laws.

G. S. Loomis, Wisconsin attorney general, ruled Wednesday the banker would be eligible for parole late this month.

Unsettled and Cooler Saturday

Temperature Climbed to 89 Degrees at Noon Today

Cooling and somewhat brisk breezes gave relief to Appleton and vicinity from a temperature that was 89 degrees on the roof of the Post-Crescent at noon today. The weather will be unsettled and cooler tomorrow and rain is slated for the north portion of the state tonight and Saturday.

After climbing to a maximum of 87 degrees yesterday afternoon the mercury settled back to an enjoyable temperature last night. The minimum reading recorded in the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning was 58 degrees at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

Highest and lowest temperatures yesterday were Phoenix 106 and Yellowstone 42.

road. The council decided against making any change in the assessment upon recommendation of the board of public works which met during a council recess.

A joint committee of the water commission will be held next Wednesday to determine a policy on granting water service to residents outside the city limits. The council recently instructed the commission to refuse such requests.

The council will conduct a public hearing Friday evening, July 23, on the type of paving S. Lawe street and W. College avenue and for the resurfacing work on College avenue and Washington streets. S. Lawe street is to be paved from S. River to Maple street and W. College avenue from Outagamie street to Linwood avenue. The avenue is to be resurfaced from Durkee to Story street and Washington street from Oneida to Superior street.

A step toward construction of a pavilion in Erb park was taken in the adoption of a resolution by the park board to secure plans and cost estimates for such a building so that provisions may be made for it when the annual budget is set.

Needs Long Study
Alderman Kubitz said plans should be drawn up now so there will be sufficient time to consider just what type of building should be erected. The structure, he said, should be designed so it can be utilized to the fullest extent.

A request of C. D. 127th infantry, for $75 for its mess fund was refused. Approval was given Mayor Goodland's appointment of Philipp Vogt, former Sixth ward alderman, to the flood control committee to represent the city in a movement

Senator Duffy May Sail for France

Named to Attend Dedication of World War Memorials in Europe

Washington—(7)—Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin may go to France for the dedication next month of chapels and other World War memorials erected in Europe.

Duffy, a former officer of the American Legion, and Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland were selected as the Democratic members of the American Battle Monuments commission. A third member will be selected by senate Republicans.

The selection must be approved by the president of the senate but Senator Key Pittman (D-Nev.), president pro-tem, has announced he would abide by the decision of the group of former service men which made the selection.

Duffy probably will not make the trip unless he can arrange to pair his vote on the court reorganization bill. So far he has not committed himself publicly on the measure.

July 21 is the latest the congressional party can leave to attend the ceremonies in France Aug. 1 to 15. Among the memorials to be dedicated are those at Montfaucon where the 32nd and 42nd divisions, composed in part of Wisconsin troops, were engaged.

Other memorials to be dedicated are at Mont Sec, where the same divisions were engaged, and at Somme where the 42nd division fought.

Baby Injured in Fall From 2nd Story Porch

Charles, 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Radtke, 900 N. Superior street, suffered brain concussion about 7:30 last night when he fell from a second story porch to the ground. The child was playing on the porch and had been left there only a short time before the accident. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

to have the government build reservoirs at the headwaters of the Wolf river.

Creation of a trailer camp in the city was referred to the recreation committee for consideration. A suggestion that parking stalls be moved from the sides to the center of College avenue was referred to the traffic committee for study. The committee also will investigate the advisability of a bicycle ordinance for the city.

Buy Truck
The councilmen adopted a report of the relief committee recommending the purchase of a truck for $705 from the August Brandt company for the relief department.

Alderman Vander Heyden asked whether the city was reimbursed for trips made out of town with the trucks. Alderman Keller explained that the city was paid $25 per month for such trips.

Purchase of playground equipment for $122.70 from the low bidder on the various items was authorized. Bids will be secured for the city owned house on Rankin street near Wisconsin avenue a coat of paint. Construction of a back-stop and repair of tennis courts at Telulah park were ordered.

A claim of Mrs. Anna Meidam against the city for injuries suffered by her son, Donald, at the municipal swimming pool, was referred to the judiciary committee and city attorney. Mrs. Meidam claims the boy was injured when another swimmer jumped on his head, breaking an ear drum.

A fee of $1 per 100 square feet of billboard will be made on those erected in the city in the future, it was decided.

Negro Is Doomed To Death for 3rd Time in Alabama

'Scottsboro Case' to be Appealed Again to U. S. Supreme Court

Decatur, Ala.—(7)—Defense Counsel Samuel S. Leibowitz announced today he was ready to take the "Scottsboro case on its third trip to the United States Supreme court."

He made the statement after a jury decreed death in the electric chair for Clarence Norris, one of nine Negroes accused of attacking two white women on a freight train near Scottsboro, Ala., six years ago.

Disappointed at the jury's action, Leibowitz said "I'm in this thing to stay until hell freezes over. I'll take the case on 20 trips to the supreme court if necessary."

Norris twice previously has been condemned to death, but each time the supreme court reversed Alabama courts.

The first to face judgment in the new series of trials, the defendant was identified from the witness stand by Mrs. Victoria Price as among those she molested her.

Norris listened stolidly to the report of the 12-man white jury yesterday.

At the trial the defense attacked the "general reputation" of Mrs. Price who repeated the oft-told story of the alleged rape on the speeding freight train, as she and Ruby Bates were returning to their Huntsville, Ala., homes after a futile search for work in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Ruby Bates was a complaining witness in the first trial, but later repudiated her story as a "frame up" and was not recalled as a witness.

Trial of the second Negro "Scottsboro" defendant, scheduled to begin today, was postponed until Monday due to the illness of Clarence Watts, of Huntsville, defense attorney.

Appleton Golfers Lose at Green Bay

Dan Steinberg, Jr., Succumbs to Dr. M. E. McMillan, 5-4

Two of Appleton's three golfers in the championship flight of the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf association tournament at the Oneida club, Green Bay, were defeated in first round matches this morning while a third was forced to default. He was Don Sawyer who was ready to play when called away by the sudden illness of a relative.

Dan Steinberg, Jr., succumbed to Dr. M. E. McMillan's shooting by a 5 and 4 score. McMillan shot a 75. F. C. Steinkne was defeated by A. C. Witteborg, Green Bay, 3 and 2.

In the Class B flight, Gordon Derbe defaulted to Don Smith, Fond du Lac.

Couple Is Sentenced On Statutory Charges
Manitowish—(7)—Myrtle Bargman, 21, and her brother-in-law, Anton Michalek, both of Two Rivers, Wis., were sentenced yesterday in municipal court after they altered pleas to guilty to statutory charges.

Miss Bargman was sentenced to four to six months at the Women's Industrial School at Taycheedah and Michalek was given a suspended sentence of one to three years at Waupun state prison.

The pair was arrested July 8 after Circuit Judge Henry Detling dismissed a case in which Miss Bargman charged Kurt Buschmann, 34, with being the father of her illegitimate child. She later admitted to District Attorney John R. Cashman she never had relations with Buschmann. Michalek was ordered to pay the $312 costs incurred by keeping Buschmann in jail for nearly two years.

where Chinese and Japanese first clashed nine days ago).

Major Takeo Imai, assistant military attache at the Japanese embassy here, said a Chinese force and a small Japanese detachment garrisoned at the Huangtun station, eight miles south of Fengtai on the Peiping-Tientsin railroad, clashed yesterday.

One Japanese soldier was shot, Imai said, and another was beaten to death with the broad blade of a Chinese military sword.

The embassy spokesman declared that heavy casualties since the first clash at Marco Polo bridge, west of Peiping, ten days ago compelled Japan to "take proper measures."

Chinese intelligence reports indicated Peiping was being cut off from reinforcement by a semi-circular line of Japanese fortifications sweeping south of the city. The reports said the line might sever Peiping from the rest of China.

Although there have been no official evacuation orders, Imai declared Japanese authorities were alarmed for the safety of Peiping's Japanese residents. Many Japanese and Koreans as well as wealthy Chinese have fled. The city was quiet.

Peace negotiations were understood to be proceeding at Tientsin. A reliable, although unofficial, source said the basis of the truce was removal of the 37th division, commanded by General Feng Chih An, southward to Paoing, 75 miles away on the strategic railway to Hankow.

"Peace" Corps
The bridge area southwest of Peiping where the 37th clashed with the Japanese would be garrisoned by a "peace preservation corps" and the strategic barracks at Nanyuan, just south of Peiping, would be taken over by units of the 29th route army which are commanded by Major Chang Tse-Chung of Tientsin. These units are considered pro-Japanese.

The central government at Nanking has insisted, however, it would recognize no local agreement. The crisis can be ended, Nanking officials hold, only by negotiations between the Chinese and Japanese governments.

Chinese reports said that throughout yesterday and last night Japanese soldiers were throwing up fortifications along the semi-circle stretching from Tung-Chow, 12 miles east of here, to the vicinity of Marco Polo bridge the original clash occurred July 7. The bridge across the Tung-Ting river is 11 miles southwest of Peiping.

the Kentuckian last night. Harrison was absent.

The conference was attended only by Barkley and Senator Pittman, president pro tempore, Minton (D-Ind.) and Schwellenbach (D-Wash.) Afterward they said only that they had reported to the president on the status of all legislation, bill by bill.

Compromise Possible
The president in his letter to Barkley left the door wide open to compromise. After outlining the objectives of his proposal, he said:

"At no time have I or any member of my administration insisted that the method or methods originally proposed be sacred or final except to point out that action was of immediate necessity and, therefore, that the process of constitutional amendment was an impossibility if the objective was to be attained within a reasonable time."

"An abandonment of judicial reform, including, of course, all the federal courts, because of the inability of a majority of senators to agree on method and reach a vote, places the responsibility squarely on the congress of the United States."

"May I, therefore, tell you very simply once more that the objectives of the president, and I believe of the great majority of our citizens, remain the same, and that I believe that it is the duty of the congress, and especially of the members of the majority party in the senate and the house of representatives, to pass legislation at this session to carry out the objectives."

Angers Opponents
The part of the letter to which opposition leaders took most violent exception was this:

"It is . . . with regret that I find that advantage is being taken of what, in all decency, should be a period of mourning."

"Because of this situation, however, I am compelled in the public interest, though against every inclination,

Lawrence Wants Explanation of Labor Statement

Wonders Whether President Knew of Secretary Roper's Speech

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—More than 30 years ago, Theodore Roosevelt started the "Ananias Club" and from time to time put into its membership those who disputed his veracity.

Lawrence Roosevelt. They would prefer to believe that any inconsistency of statement was inadvertent rather than deliberate.

Last week Tuesday, the press correspondents asked President Roosevelt if he endorsed the statement on labor policy which had been made by the secretary of commerce, Daniel Roper. Mr. Roosevelt replied flatly that he had not read the statement. The inference conveyed was that the president knew nothing about it until it was published. This would tend to detract from the importance of the Roper speech as an administration policy.

Now comes the Associated Press on Wednesday of this week with a dispatch stating that "Secretary Roper revealed today that he had submitted a recent speech on industrial labor relations to the White house." Mr. Roper is quoted as having said that he sent the address in advance to Secretary Early of the White house staff.

What does Secretary Roper mean by contradicting the president? Or maybe it wasn't intended as a contradiction? If the president is just fencing with the correspondents and trying to evade a direct answer to their questions, and if he literally meant that he had not read the Roper speech in advance, it could mean that the White house is run on a basis whereby an important pronouncement on labor policy is passed upon by the secretaries without taking the trouble to draw it to the attention of the president of the United States.

There have been reports for some time that the White House staff was so overworked as not to be able to take care of the president's memoranda, a circumstance that may or may not be behind the recent request for six executive assistants to the president at a salary of $10,000 each.

Should Inform President

But it seems incredible that a vital pronouncement on labor policy would be approved by a White House secretary and no knowledge of its phrasing given to the president of the United States, who was elected by the people to administer the laws of the land, including those concerned with labor relations.

Strange things do happen, however, at the White House, nowadays. Only recently it was averred there that the president signed a lot of blank sheets of paper with his autograph and he didn't know that the Democratic national campaign committee put the sheets into campaign books which were later sold to corporations in violation of the federal corrupt practices act, the proceeds being to retire the financial debt incurred during the 1936 campaign by the Democratic national headquarters.

It has been suggested that perhaps Mr. Roosevelt didn't want to know in advance what Secretary Roper was going to say so he, the president, would be able to repudiate it if public opinion didn't take kindly to the address. These tactics have been used before in other administrations and are called "trial balloons," but it is rare indeed to find a president of the United States unadvised about an important statement issued by a member of his cabinet. It is even more rare to find a cabinet officer saying something to the press on a question of fact which conflicts directly with what the president himself has said to be the fact. One explanation might be that Secretary Roper is tired of being made the "goat" in his relations with business men and the public generally because things he has said of a conservative nature have frequently been repudiated by the president's own statements or actions in respect to various public questions.

Explanation inadequate But this explanation hardly seems adequate. What seems more plausible is that Secretary Roper missed reading the item in the newspaper saying President Roosevelt claimed

More Efficient Fire Alarm Plans are Made at Hilbert

Hilbert—Various improvements will be made next week in the new fire department, it was voted at the department meeting Tuesday evening. The siren as yet is in the old village hall. The switch will be extended to the new village hall where a lock box for key and switch will be installed. It will then be possible to sound the siren from three different points. This step was recommended by the rating bureau and will cost the fire department about $75. This amount also covers costs of remodeling a window in the pump house to create more ventilation when the gas engine is being operated.

Announcement was made by the picnic committee that the Calumet, Manitowoc and Sheboygan counties Rural Letter Carriers association annual picnic will be held at not to have read the Roper speech in advance. It would be most surprising to find Secretary Roper, who is trained in the school of political loyalty, making a misstep of this kind except innocently. If, however, he did say what he did knowing what the White House had declared to the press, it may have real significance as indicating that Mr. Roper is not going to be put "on the spot" through the carelessness of the White house staff.

2nd and last at Lawrence wants 8 The question remains: Did the president mislead the press or does the White house staff keep him so isolated that he does not even have a chance to read the most important statement on labor policy that has come this year from a high official of the Roosevelt administration?

Some sort of explanation would seem to be due the press and the public of what actually happened, for it would be most regrettable after the fine record of relations with the press which has been built up by the president and his able assistant, Secretary Early, to find that the White house considers it legitimate to fool the newspapermen. For, after all, fooling the press is not different from fooling the public and it will be recalled that Abraham Lincoln spoke a warning that might be repeated now, to the effect that one can fool some of the people some of the time, some of the people all the time but not all of the people all of the time.

IS WAR ADVISABLE AND UNAVOIDABLE?

It is said in matters unrelated to war that men should occasionally inquire into the correctness of principles that guide them and which they assume too often to be above either question or argument.

It is barely possible that the several hundred million people upon this earth who are committed, or think they are committed, to the proposition that world peace is natural, normal, and within the realm of practical accomplishments are in the wrong.

They would shudder, we know, to think that a war at least once in a generation could not be avoided. Not only have our fathers been unable to avert a sanguinary visit to the battlefields but the evidence seems quite clear that the world is jogging contentedly in that direction today. The fact that people are so hesitant in admitting their own martial spirit, or the will and purpose to destroy others occasionally who happen to get in their way, may result in more desperate and uncontrollable wars than a policy that embraced war as unavoidable and attempted to minimize its evils.

In the days of old youth graduated into manhood to the sound of metal rasping on metal. The martial or warlike spirit was tenderly nurtured. Courage, the willingness to die, were the hall-marks of the man.

This policy had its advantages. Some of them are sadly missed today. Only the strong and the willing come to positions of authority since military title prevailed in civil affairs. Those who corresponded to the "destroyers from within" today were unable to nudge or shoulder themselves into places of authority because they lacked the recognized essentials of manhood, the absence of which are no longer noted by our people as they follow silver voices proceeding from copper throats.

When, a few years before the World War General von Bernhardi wrote his notorious book "The Next War" the world stood aghast at what it called his brutal declaration that war was inevitable, and, moreover, was well worth while in that it paid for itself many times over by making better men, a more virile race and sounder, more just government.

Whatever may be said about race and government nothing has transpired since the famous German wrote his book to dispute him, but the evidence is prolific to uphold him, if not in the certainty that he was right, at least in believing he had good cause for his opinion.

You can travel along the Amur in Eastern Asia, or farther south where the teeming millions dwell, or hop to Palestine or Turkey, Bolivia or Porto Rico, to say nothing of the armed camp that is Europe, and find millions upon millions of men eagerly listening for the signal to open fire. This in spite of such a deluge of peace propaganda spread in 20 years that the world has never known in as many centuries.

Why has this hurricane of arguments failed? Perhaps too many of them were false and hypocritical, proceeding from sources as dishonest as any rogue and sent forth only that those involved might be weakened and the senders thus strengthened in positions they wished to hold. The conviction is almost everywhere that too many peace apostles want for themselves the fruits of ruthless war without risking their cowardly hides.

When we first read that argument we were very skeptical of it but since the Spanish war started proof to sustain it is only too evident right here in America.

For the most part this proof is not published excepting by regional papers. In Appleton we learn of the conduct, meetings, resolutions and collections stimulated by Socialists as far as Milwaukee, perhaps Chicago. Reading newspaper exchanges indicates the country has been plastered with the same campaign that led us to Armageddon in 1917 although for different interests and in initial steps only.

The Socialists would willingly put this country to war to aid socialism. The Reds would gladly put it to war if the Mexican border were open for their passage to safety so they might return after the danger was over and pick the bones.

Thus do we observe that a noisy minority may light the fuse. In olden days, when war was taken as a matter of course, those who sounded its tocsin were invariably those who did the fighting.

It is a puzzling proposition. It seems monstrous, that men cannot live on the earth without devouring each other.

But if they must fight, if certain elements in our population who are the quickest to find a rathole when the guns below, are nevertheless to be placed in a position where they can, by underhanded means, send millions of others to battle, we may discover that our traditional American system of permitting perfect freedom to so many criminally demented on the ground that the proposition is political, and government by the rules of free speech must be sustained, is not exactly practical any more than the medieval rules feebly presented to stop the black plague at the gates by a despairing people.

THESE ARE WISCONSIN JEWELS

Philip Kinsley, writing from Appleton for the Chicago Tribune, reviews some of the history of the small college in American life and calls it the "keystone to a sound America."

In selecting Lawrence as his leading example Mr. Kinsley chose well and wisely. Into its cool halls for ninety years have walked an endless throng of American boys and girls accompanied by the prayers of their parents, and out of those halls have been graduated the finest ingredient in American life, the educated man and woman whose course of training has been directed by honest and sincere instructors untouched by the hatred of atheism or the neuroticism of immorality, although well and frankly versed in the problems of life and government.

If he could take twins of identical mental ability and muscular strength and send one of them to a college like Lawrence and another to the University of Wisconsin, the advantages of the small college would be self-evident in comparing their usefulness in life, for higher education consists of additional items to those found in classroom books.

It should be more generally and widely known that the colleges in this state, with the exception of the University of Wisconsin, have subscribed to this platform:

"It shall be obligatory to ground all students thoroughly in the fundamental principles of morality that the reign of law may be promoted in individual and family lives and the perpetuity of our nation, with its democratic form of government, so dear to the heart of every American patriot, be made secure."

"It shall be obligatory for every professor to respect the moral law and to avoid teaching anything that is opposed to the Ten Commandments, which are an expression of the moral law, to which all right thinking men, irrespective of creed, must subscribe in order that academic freedom may not degenerate into academic license. It is believed that, if this platform is carried out, sane, safe, and conscientious leaders, well-balanced morally as well as mentally, will be developed to combat the menace of law-defying socialism and anarchism, and to solve the problem of industrial unrest."

In many respects the University of Wisconsin has been a political institution; that is, men with deep and abiding hatreds, whether a hatred of work or a hatred of God, have wormed themselves often into power and then visited their unclean hands upon the university, shaping its course in several dangerous respects.

Of course they have not had their own way entirely. Men of sane view and unwarped mind have contested the road with them. But they have often won skirmishes and sometimes seemingly dug in in permanent shape until torn loose by a public opinion that had to be aroused for the purpose.

The Post-Crescent is disappointed that Wisconsin has not yet seen fit to develop these smaller colleges and quit enlarging the University.

But it is not a wild prediction that some day in the near future the people, when in need of further educational facilities, will extend the advantages of the true blue colleges and end the growth of the stumbling mastodon at Madison.

Opinions Of Others

ANOTHER "NEW ERA"

It is a bit early for the glib blandishments of the "new era" argument to put in appearance. Back in the twenties, of fresh memory, it was not until the penultimate stages of boom that one heard the trade cycle had been conquered. The capricious behavior of prices had a lot to do with it, as the world now knows. Always in the past a crash had been heralded by soaring prices, and through the twenties the general price level insisted on trending downward slightly. Hence, in part, the popular self-congratulation that depressions were a thing of the past. It was to be a new era of unalloyed expansion.

With these reminiscences yet green, it is a trifle disconcerting to hear a suggestion that this time the economic millennium may be at hand. Recently in the Daily News, the Honorable Minister of Education Stanley Oliver was belaboring the Labor contention that prosperity based on rearmament was not basically sound. He said:

"I'm not sure that the theory of trade cycles is applicable under present conditions. Under the gold standard, with its automatic checks, there was sometimes a greater reaction than necessary. But we are not sure how far the new method of managed currency will go toward reducing such reactions."

It was price stability in the late twenties, now it is managed currencies. And there will be those in the United States who will argue that the social security, federal income tax, banking and investment controls and the like, are ingredients of a new American era. But the stabilizing of business is a task of the utmost complexity under conditions where some factors are rigid while others are flexible. It will require

THE reaction to Joe Robinson's death has, up to the time this was written, been one of resentment at having forced the senator to work so hard in hot weather. . . . this is a thinly veiled reference to the fact that President Roosevelt, constantly under a physician's eye and working in an air cooled office, has demanded that his lieutenants fight it out with the court bill to the bitter end. . . . Ben Carter was blunt in his comments and I wonder just how much faith he shook—and will shake—in those who think the president a superman above reproach. . . . in any event, here is an incident packed to the brim with political dynamite and you can start guessing right now just what may come of it. . . . If Joe Robinson had not been obliged to fight so hard for the court bill he would probably be alive today—this is apparently the general feeling. . . . excepting, of course, the point of view that when your number is up you are going, come what may. . . .

THE DIGEST WAS RIGHT ABOUT HOOVER, ANYWAY

Jonah:

In compliance with your published request, am sending you a short one. Hard to condense in a few paragraphs everything I thought of this morning.

Still no rain in Pumpkin Center. Scripture says "The rain falls on the just and the unjust." If it fell on the just only, I'd hurry and mend my ways.

And the Republican party lost one more asset. The saga of the Literary Digest, first sold for a mess of pottage, now sold for a song.

Let Hoover write its obituary.

—Ezekiel Sodbuster

The truck drivers' strike in Michigan does have its unusual angles. Yeah, it isn't a C.I.O. strike.

It gives the A. F. of L. an opportunity, however, to show how responsible an organization it is and a chance to crow over its noisy rival by keeping its word and keeping its men in line.

And reminds me that the C.I.O. may be the best friend the A. F. of L. ever had—even if things are being done the hard way. The A. F. of L. has lost members to the other labor group to be sure, but meanwhile it is being invited into places where, formerly, it couldn't get in by the back door.

Summer pleasures are over as far as your correspondent is concerned.

Yeah, the fly season has started in earnest and there's a family of mosquitoes rampant at our house.

And we're due for continual bad weather, too. The car has been washed and polished.

Note to Ezekiel Sodbuster: the request for brevity was directed at the Shadow and only at the Shadow. You are free to sound off as fully as necessary to unburden yourself.

A BABY SLEEPS

Such a little grave to tend!
 Surely the plying sun must come
 With healing beams of gold to lend
 Courage to hands that plant flowers here!
 The fuchsia and delphinium
 Would be too tall for this small place.
 Shy flowers the faithful heart holds dear.
 Must grow in such a tiny space.

Such a little grave to tend!
 Surely the plying birds must sing
 Above this spout of green. . . . The end
 Of more than one long day finds one
 Bending above the blossoming
 Of what once her dearest dreams . . .
 Fall gently, Rain! Shine brightly, Sun!
 Where this bouquet of roses gleams!

A MUDDLED MOSES

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
 Noted Physician and Author

WHAT HAS BECOME OF THE SECOND SUMMER LEGEND?

From Hickville on the Hudson, where else? Comes a query that might have been written July 16, 1937. The correspondent would like to know just how serious a baby's second summer is.

By giner, that reminds me, this is Patsy's second summer. You may have met Patsy. She was born in March, 1935, and a snapshot of her as a natural smiles at you from the flyleaf of "The Brady Better Baby Book" published in June, 1936. Prettier babies have survived the second summer, thousands of them, but I'll never exact another dime for a copy of "The Brady Better Baby Book" if you can line up another of her age (16 months) who has more sheer vileness than Patsy has. You see, for more than two years Patsy has received an optimal vitamin ration, not only C but the vitamins prospective mothers and young infants too often fail to get. The fuchsia and delphinium summer my eye. It seems more like the fourth or fifth to Pat.

On page 22 the aforesaid baby book says:

"A healthy properly fed baby will never need any other laxative than the right food. There is no if or but about this. I'm telling you. It's your baby. This is a free country. Take my advice or bend the advice of Mrs. Sumser or Sairygump if you prefer. . . . The first dose of physic you give the baby, under any circumstance, is the beginning of all the trouble you will have from then on. There simply isn't any kind of laxative, physic, cathartic or 'aid' you can inflict on your baby which is without a bad after-effect—binding. Castor oil is particularly harmful in that respect. In practice, castor oil is used only in the treatment of diarrhea, because by its action it presumably seeps out offending material and then locks the bowels for a while."

That is not the main reason why the sane parent will carefully avoid resorting to castor oil or other physic without definite or specific prescription by the physician. There would be no harm in locking up the bowel for a day or two or for several days, no dire poisoning or auto-intoxication or other evil consequence. But the administration of any such medicine to a young infant seriously upsets the natural physiological automatic regulation of the digestion in the whole length of the digestive tract and makes the establishment of physic habit easy. This is the way most victims of "constipation" get that way."

As already intimated, a baby 15 months old who has received an adequate ration of vitamins B, D and G for two years or so never needs anything like castor oil because she has vit.

Elsewhere a pretty good authority who is too bashful to mention his name again so soon, says: "Indeed we know that when the daily supply of vitamins fall below a certain level necessary for perfect nutrition, the digestive functions are all more or less weakened and the motor functions of stomach and intestine particularly sluggish. . . ."

Of course one reason why the "second summer" was hard on infants in the nineties and before was that people there did not understand how important it is to be certain the milk of other food for the baby is clean and fresh and not half spoiled or swarming with bacteria whose growth is favored by heat where there is inadequate refrigeration.

Your Birthday

"CANCER"

If July 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. until noon from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 9 to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a. m. from 7 to 9 p. m. and from 11 p. m. until midnight.

It might be well to qualify your remarks this day, especially if a promise is being made. Circumstances are likely to throw you in contact with an exceptionally congenial group of people. This ought to be a day filled with many agreeable surprises, mostly of a social nature. It will be good judgment to steer conversations away from depressing or sordid subjects, for it will be very easy for people to become easily downcast and heartless over somebody's misfortune. Do not do things in an aggressive fashion, this day because the average individual will like to do things in a leisurely way, and an overly energetic manner will be resented. Cast aside old-fashioned ideas for progressive ones this day if you wish to be popular. Be cautious how you make known your likes and dislikes. There is danger of offending others by thoughtless expression. Married or engaged couples, and those who are in love must try to cooperate in every way this day.

If a woman and July 17 is your birthday, you ought to be capable of rising to any unexpected occasion. Ordinarily placid, you may be given to sudden outbursts of temper. If you wish to escape trouble learn to control these displays of anger. You are likely to exercise a great influence on the lives of many people. You may be more popular with men than with your own sex. You are most likely, outspoken and have very little patience with people who beat-around-a-bush. You love to be entertained and to entertain. As an artist, musician, entertainer, actress, interior decorator, sales lady or demonstrator you ought to be very successful.

The child born on July 17, generally, by the time it enters preparatory school, has developed a remarkable imagination. If this is trained in the right direction, it can become an extremely valuable asset. The trait requires most careful handling.

If a man and July 17 is your natal day, your impulses may prove very helpful in business. Instinct perhaps will guide you in making wise decisions. As an architect, contractor, financier, broker, author, lawyer, actor or lecturer your pet ambition is likely to be realized.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York — It was just two minutes before midnight when Joe Howard, motioning a red cap toward his bags, sauntered through Grand Central terminal and boarded a fast train for Texas. The old song writer, who was pegging tear-jerkers when Tin Pan Alley wasn't even a foot-path was heading south.

It may be that the name Howard, confronting you suddenly in cold type, doesn't mean much. . . . But it will when you think back and remember he wrote "I wonder Who's Kissing Her Now?"

There's a legend about that song, and how it came to be written. Howard and some friends were strengthening themselves against the rigors of Chicago's bitter cold (this was in 1904) at the Golden Horseshoe bar of the old Brevoort. It was a Friday night. Into the bar came a couple of college boys, in turtle-neck sweaters and small caps. One of the lads was sobbing in a distressing manner. He carried a much-read letter in his hand, a letter from his girl informing him that the jig was up, insofar as he was concerned. She had stepped out and got herself another beau.

His pal, bitterly reflecting upon the vicissitudes of life, queried: "I wonder who's kissing her now?"

Howard heard the question. Suddenly he borrowed a pencil, and there, at the Golden Horseshoe bar, he began to write on a scrap of brown paper:

"I wonder who's kissing her now. . . . I wonder who's teaching her now. . . . I wonder if she . . . ever tells him of me. . . ."

That was more than 30 years ago! The song, the most stickily sentimental ballad ever turned out, still the style for ballads then. It's still being sung.

What brought all this up was the trick of fate that deposited me in Grand Central at the identical moment when Joe, ticket in hand, tossed his luggage to a porter and marched off toward his train.

The porter could not have known who Howard was. Yet, as he trudged along, he was humming an old familiar tune. The one that goes: "I wonder who's kissing her now. . . ."

Frank Black's recent fan gift of a tiny ivory model piano has proved costly. So many friends have admired it that Black has had to have almost 100 reproductions made as gifts.

Although the Irish are reputed a dominant race in New York they are numerically only fifth. The Jews and Italians have the largest populations.

The average length of time anybody lives in the Times Square district is 11 months.

RAY BATHS FOR NINERS
 Essen, Germany — (U. N. S.) — Ultra-violet ray baths as a substitute for solar ray action are planned for miners. This is part of the Nazi labor front's scheme to stimulate working capacity. Experiments are said to have shown that ray treatment raised the labor potential of each individual by as much as 60 per cent.

PLAY JOKE ON GOOSE

Tokyo — (U. N. S.) — Four baby peacocks have been hatched at Ueno zoo here, with the aid of a goose. A pea-hen laid four eggs, but refused to sit on them. So a goose was brought in. When four little squeaking green-plumed peacocks appeared, the goose seemed surprised, but she agreed to feed them.

Although 90 years old, Mrs. August Klumber of Jindera, Australia, seized a gun and killed a snake near her home with one shot.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — Jefferson Island, like the "Grand hotel," undoubtedly will go down in history as the place where nothing ever happens.

Jefferson Island is a little blob out in Chesapeake bay which you could walk across or around in a very few minutes without any great harm to yourself or the island. There the president played smiling guest of honor to some 350 senators and representatives who were expected by earnest administrationists to return to Washington convinced of.

The advisability of enacting the president's legislative program, including court revision, government revision, and farm-plan revision. Or— 2. The futility of trying to prevent it.

Slipping?

The Democrats who went included both supporters and critics of the president's program. Before they went, the critics were fairly certain they had the president licked entirely on the court plan, that the "even-normal granary" farm plan was dead for this session, and that a mere tithe of the executive reorganization bill was all that the president expected to salvage this session from his somewhat recalcitrant congress. When they came back, these critics who had seen their colleagues tested under the rays of the president's good humor, were less certain of their position.

Several still thought there would be no vote on the original presidential plan by which Mr. Roosevelt sought to appoint comparative youngsters to the court to match all the oldsters. But they believed there would be a vote on the formula of Senator Hatch of New Mexico, one of the majority of the judiciary committee which rejected the president's plan.

The Hatch formula, which is to be considerably revised from its first draft, will provide that the president may appoint one new justice a year to match oldsters on the court. But the court is not to be permanently increased above nine members, so vacancies caused by retirement or death may not be filled unless they lower the membership below nine. And Hatch wants to provide that a justice may reach 75, not 70, before the president may appoint a younger man to watch him.

But Nothing Happened

A slant on the administration attitude may be had from analysis of Postmaster General Farley's statement. He said congress won't adjourn until it passes the court bill and the executive reorganization bill. He was one of the cabinet members called to Jefferson Island to help make up the congressional mind.

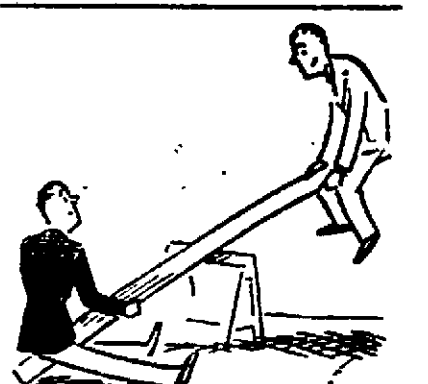

And those two bills are the very pair most severely criticized as transferring boundless authority to the president to control the government. Doubtless Postmaster General Farley, a little less prejudiced on the subject, it is his job to run the party. In recent days he has seen ample signs of party trouble. With vast authority concentrated in the hands of the president, he could expect less trouble.

But all this, mind, brewed out of the bay breezes, the beer and sandwiches and the play of the president's matchless manner. Nothing scores of congressmen insisted—nothing really happened.

San Francisco — (U. N. S.) — The next eight months are going to be months of suspense for Guadalupe Martinez, restaurant bus boy.

Come time, ago he found $1,150 in currency on the street and reported it to police. No one has appeared to claim the money. The law provides that Martinez cannot legally take possession until February 25, 1938. In the meantime he is keeping his job and trying not to think about the matter.

Hollywood — A star is born. You saw how it was done in the Janet Gaynor movie. The story of Evelyn Daw lights up the short cut.

Evelyn, the queen of dramatics and voice in Keddies, S. D., didn't know what to do with a theatrical ambition until a friend of hers, a nurse, came visiting from Los Angeles. Evelyn came along on the return trip.

Her friend had no "in" at the studios, and Evelyn didn't want to join the extras. She tried for and got into local operettas. For two years she studied and worked. A month ago she began telephoning Victor Schertzinger, who was looking for a voice that could act.

He Broke Down

So Schertzinger finally gave her an audition. He was giving many of them, anyway, because he still had no leading lady. After she sang, he asked: "How much do you weigh?"

"Hundred and eight," she said. "Then 107 pounds of you is voice!"

Her screen test revealed that red-haired, 21-year-old Evelyn could act, too. She's James Cagney's leading lady in her first movie role. . . . And a star is born—if you agree with the director when you see her.

But so often—not to discourage Evelyn Daw—directors find the public doesn't agree about their prodigies. I remember Irving Cummings' enthusiasm for Rosemary Ames. "If she doesn't go over," said Cummings, "then—"

And his gesture indicated the futility of further quest for talent. Watching her work, talking to her, I had to agree with him. But the public somehow didn't.

And Anna Sten. Sam Goldwyn thought she was the end of the rainbow. But Anna was almost the end of Sam Goldwyn. (There, there, Anna, of course I'm exaggerating.)

But Anna's coming back now on a different track, and maybe she'll show Sam. Grand National's doing a thing called "Gorgeous" and the accent's on glamor. They'll take her away from the cabbage patch, rub off the peasant soil which arty Goldwyn laid on heavily, and give her the satin gloss.

The other day the GN still man went out to Sten's home to take pictures and suggested, as still men inevitably do, that a beach outfit or—or a swimming suit or—or—would make a nice picture.

And she appeared in a flowered beach robe which draped just right, and they got some nice pictures.

"Leg art" being the art of legs in Hollywood, perhaps here, too, it can be reported that—a star is born. . . .

Raisins, dates, currants and figs blend better with other ingredients if they are soaked for five minutes in a little boiling water. Use two tablespoonsful of boiling water for each half a cup of fruit.

Will Move Junk From Residential Areas

Junk dealers agreed to keep their property in residential districts clear of junk at a meeting with the police and license committee of the common council yesterday afternoon at the city hall. They will be allowed however to keep junk inside their buildings.

A year ago the council ordered all junk dealers to move their businesses from the residential districts by July 1, 1937 with the warning that no licenses would be issued if the order was not obeyed. There were a number of complaints and licenses of several dealers were

Eagles Select Contests for Park Picnic

ALTHOUGH it is called the annual children's picnic, the event which Fraternal Order of Eagles will sponsor next Sunday at Erb park will present as much attraction for adults as for the younger group. A baseball game between picked teams of Eagles and a tug-o-war for the men are scheduled for the afternoon following a basket lunch.

There will be games and contests for the children who will be given free tickets for ice cream, candy bars, cracker jack and soft drinks. The refreshment stand will be under the direction of Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles with Mrs. Andrew Schiltz as chairman and the officers assisting. Mr. Schiltz will be chairman of the men's committee which includes Henry Strutz, Henry Wagner, Al Ricker, Elmer Koerner and Henry Staedt. Activities will begin about 11 o'clock.

A picnic for Konicmic lodge, Order of Odd Fellows, and Deborah Rebekah lodge will be held Sunday at the William Toll cottage on Lake Winnebago south of Neenah. The group will leave Odd Fellow hall at 1:30 in the afternoon, and there will be a ball game, swimming and other informal entertainment at the lake. A basket supper will be served. Walter J. Nissen is chairman of the Men's committee and he will be assisted by Ernest Maynard and Henry Moritz, while the women's committee includes Mrs. George Gauslin and Mrs. Nissen.

Appleton unit of the United Commercial Travelers of America will have its annual, basket picnic for members and their families Sunday, July 18, at Alicia park. Races and contests for the children will begin promptly at 2:30, and in addition to the prizes which are being offered there will be large sacks of good things to eat for all the children. The men will have their ball game as usual. On the committee making arrangements for the affair are E. W. Schuler, chairman, L. S. Zeh, Jack Cornell, Max Bauer, F. G. Schwandt, Dr. A. L. Koch, C. G. Rumpf, T. S. Davis, W. W. Eisner, J. M. Van Roy, D. A. Matteson, W. C. Steenis, W. C. Lemke and C. E. Lemke and C. E. Greiner. In case of rain the picnic will be held the following Sunday, July 25.

Eighty-five persons attended the picnic of Pythian Sisters for members and their families Thursday afternoon and evening at Pierce park. The women played bridge in the afternoon, prizes going to Mrs. Earl Boulden, Mrs. George Nolting, Mrs. Louis Bonini and Mrs. George Ashman. Mrs. J. P. Shimek won the traveling prize. Husbands of members came to the park for supper.

Mrs. Walter Koester, most excellent junior, invited the officers to spend July 29 at her cottage on Lake Winnebago.

Parties

A group of her friends surprised Mrs. J. E. Ballard in honor of her birthday anniversary Thursday night at her home on N. Owaissa street. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Radtke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wienandt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weyenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Klammer of Kaukauna and Mr. and Mrs. George Cavert. The group played cards on the Ballard lawn, and prizes were won by Mrs. Cavert and Mrs. Ballard.

Mrs. J. E. Thomas, who is living at 35 Bellaire court this summer, will entertain a group of friends at dinner at North Shore Golf club's July dinner-dance Saturday night.

A group of friends surprised Robert Kessler, 129 N. Durkee street, Thursday evening in honor of his twenty-first birthday anniversary. Cards and other games were played, and prizes were won by Cele Keller, Harry Baumann, Marvin Hartley, Mary Jane Miller and Marjorie Conner. Those present included Marjorie Conner, Cel Baumann, Mary Elizabeth Jensen, Mary Jane Miller, Dorothy Gibs, Cele Miller, Regina Gonnervin, Harry Baumann, Norbert Gonnervin, Henry Van Lanckvelt, Marvin Hartley and Jo Kysers.

Russell Selig, 841 W. Lawrence street, entertained 11 guests Thursday afternoon and evening in honor of his tenth birthday anniversary. Games were played and supper was served at his home after which the group held a theater party. Those present were Lawrence Newland, Jerry Crowe, Harvey and Stanley Schulz, Jackie Eugene and Vernon Selig, Kenneth

OLD FRIENDS OF MRS. KLUGE GUESTS AT LUNCHEON

Fete Miss Gladys Roesch At Miscellaneous Shower

MRS. HECTOR DACHELET entertained at a miscellaneous shower Thursday night at her home at 1019 W. Spring street for her sister, Miss Gladys Roesch, who will become the bride of Stanley Van Susteren of Racine on Aug. 7. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roesch, 1009 N. Superior street, and Mr. Van Susteren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Susteren, Little Chute. There were 24 guests at the shower. The evening was spent playing court whist, with prizes going to Mrs. Gertrude Frankland, Mrs. Elmer Hinzman and Miss Winifred Dunkel.

Out-of-town guests at the party were Mrs. Larson and Miss Marcella Brehm, Neenah, and Miss Ellen Dressang, Milwaukee. Gifts came also from several out-of-town guests who were unable to be there. Mrs. George F. Roesch, Miss Muriel Roesch, Mrs. William J. Roesch and Mary Jane Roesch, Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. John Bohren, Horton, Wis. Two more showers have already been planned for Miss Roesch for next week.

Mrs. Louis Selig, 825 N. Harrison street, was hostess at a miscellaneous shower Thursday night for her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alvin Heber, who was Miss Elizabeth Heber of Neenah before her marriage about three weeks ago. The evening was spent playing schafkopf, and prizes were won by Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, Appleton, on a trip to Sheboygan, Two Rivers and Algoma.

Mrs. C. J. Rockstroh won the bridge prize, Mrs. Mike Gayhart and Mrs. C. Kaufman the awards for schafkopf and Mrs. Elizabeth Hopfensperger the plumpack prize at the card party given by St. Joseph and Clarence Schiltz, Billy Bogan and Ronald Selig.

Mrs. A. H. Falk entertained at bridge Thursday afternoon at her cottage at Rockland beach, prizes going to Mrs. Herbert Kirschene, Mrs. Herbert Voeks and Mrs. Louis Gressenz. Others present were Mrs. Julius Kopplin, Mrs. Elmer Boettcher, Mrs. Fred Jentz, Mrs. Elmer Semrow and Miss Edna Strej. A picnic supper was served.

Mrs. H. S. Cooke, 302 Catherine street, Kaukauna, entertained at a luncheon Thursday afternoon at the Heartstone Tea room in honor of her daughter, Miss Adeline Cooke, who is spending a month's vacation from her duties as librarian at Birmingham, Mich., at her home in Kaukauna. Today Miss Cooke is a guest of her cousin, Miss Chester Heinrich, Mrs. Richard Schwahn, Mrs. Fred Piette and Mrs. Emil Schwahn. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. John Miller, Kaukauna, Mrs. Louis Goehler, Combined Locks; Mrs. Franklin Hebler and Mrs. Sally Lemrich, Neenah; and Mrs. Joseph Rothe, Mrs. Fred Schwartz and Mrs. William Cehms, Green Bay.

Rev. Wilson to Speak at Parsonage Dedication

The Rev. John W. Wilson, pastor-at-large for the Congregational church in Wisconsin, will go to Spooner Sunday to help dedicate a new parsonage for the minister who has charge of four parishes near Spooner. The Rev. Mr. Wilson will be one of the speakers at the dedication services, others to be Dr. Theodore Faville, Madison, general superintendent, and Dr. Charles H. Wicks, Eau Claire, successor to the Rev. Mr. Wilson as field superintendent.

The Rev. and Mrs. Wilson and the Rev. Horace W. Parsons returned Thursday night from Woodland lodge, Elcho, where they attended a Congregational ministers' retreat this week. About 30 ministers were in retreat at the same time.

League to Hold Valley Zone Picnic

WALTHER Leaguers of Mt. Olive Lutheran church are planning to attend the Fox River Valley zone picnic at Camp Weyauwega, Waupaca, on Sunday, July 25, the day on which the Walther League summer encampment will open for an eight-day session. Leaguers of the zone will arrive at camp Sunday morning in time to attend the morning service at 10:30 in the auditorium, and a basket dinner will be eaten on the grounds.

The afternoon will be devoted to an activities contest and a launch trip around the Chain O'Lakes followed by a swim period. After supper the group will hike to several cottages around the lakes and sing camp songs on the way. A campfire program will be followed by evening vespers. Cars will leave Appleton at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, July 25, or a bus may be chartered to take the leaguers to Waupaca for the day.

Junior Olive branch will meet at 7:30 Monday evening in Mt. Olive church parlors at which time final arrangements for the trip will be made.

At the social meeting of Zion Lutheran Ladies society held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Herman Beske, 326 W. Commercial street, prizes at games were won by Mrs. Minnie Wetzel, Mrs. Albert Gressenz, Mrs. Herman Harm, Mrs. Eva Gressenz, Mrs. Louise Wendland and Mrs. Orson Kranzsch. Forty-five members attended. The next meeting will be July 29 at the cottage of Mrs. Herman Lemke on Ricker Bay, Lake Winnebago.

Sunday, Oct. 10, was the date set for the sub-district rally of Methodist young people to be held at First Methodist Episcopal church.

Dr. Bagg to Talk at State Garden Meet

Dr. Rufus M. Bagg, emeritus professor of geology and mineralogy at Lawrence college, will speak at the annual summer meeting of the Wisconsin Garden Club federation at Sturgeon Bay Saturday evening. His subject will be "The Geological History of Door County," a survey of which has just been published in the Tounst Guild of Door County.

Also appearing on the program Saturday evening will be H. R. Holand, Ephraim, president of the Door County Historical society, who will speak on "Pioneer History of the County." Sunday's program will include talks by Dr. Jens Jensen, Ellison Bay, and Prof. Franz Aust, Madison; a tour of Peninsula park, a fish fry at noon and a tour through the entire Cherryland region. A tour of Potawatomi park will take place Saturday.

The meeting which is being held under the auspices of the Wisconsin Horticultural society is under the direction of H. J. Rahmow of the horticultural department of the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Kenneth Pinkerton, 621 W. Third street, entertained her bridge club Thursday afternoon at her home. Honors at the game went to Mrs. Horace Davis, Jr., Mrs. Arson Raemer and Mrs. Jack Benton. In two weeks Mrs. Davis will be hostess to the group at her home on N. Morrison street.

Mrs. Walter Johnson was hostess to the members of the Birthday club Thursday afternoon at Pierce park. The birthday gift was presented to Mrs. Ted Fargo. Buncos was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Melvin Boese and Mrs. Ted Fargo. The next meeting of the club will be July 29 at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Bledsall, 1235 W. Eighth street.

Husbands of American Legion Auxiliary members will be guests at a 6 o'clock pot luck supper Monday evening at Pierce park. The women will play cards following a meeting at 2:30 in the afternoon.

Appleton, at a meeting of the sub-district cabinet last night at the local church. Plans were made for the various discussion groups at the rally.

Miss Ethel Pearson, Neenah, president of the cabinet, presided, and those present were Miss Elvira Meier, Neenah, secretary; James and Robert Bailey, Appleton; Vern Tibbs, Brillion; and Herbert Bastian, Seymour. Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of the Appleton church, also attended.

When the convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Joint Synod of Wisconsin and Other States holds its convention in Appleton Aug. 11 to 17, St. Paul Lutheran church will be host to the gathering. Pastors, teachers and lay delegates from 15 states and Poland will attend the sessions and about 160 official delegates as well as a large number of visitors are expected.

Currency Accord With Brazil Is Announced in U.S.

Treasury Agrees to Sell Up To 60 Million Dollars in Gold

Washington — (AP)—The treasury brought Brazil today into the growing family of nations with which it has made currency stabilizing agreements.

A new record, announced late yesterday by Secretary Morgenthau and Arthur de Souza Costa, Brazilian finance minister, provides that the United States will sell up to $60,000,000 in gold to the South American republic.

Souza Costa and Secretary Hull also made public an agreement to barter the existing Brazilian-American trade treaty with "minor complementary measures."

The officials said the two nations would protect benefits of the reciprocal agreements "against outside competition that is directly subsidized by governments."

Gold for Stabilization
The monetary agreement, following by less than a week a similar understanding with China, provides that Brazil will use gold acquired here for currency stabilization purposes.

The gold will be paid for with American dollars, acquired by Brazil in foreign exchange markets or through trade operations. The metal, which will come from the treasury's $12,400,000 hoard, will be left in this country. Against it, the treasury may advance dollars to Brazil for stabilizing operations.

The accord brings to seven the list of nations with which the treasury has currency understandings. Besides China, they are Great Britain and France, original adherents to the tri-power monetary pact last fall, and Belgium, Switzerland, and The Netherlands.

LIONS WATCH CYCLE SPEEDSTER

With his trained lions "Sultan" and "Satan" seated on pedestals watching the wheels go round and round, "Bill" Kemp daredevil motorcycle speed demon circles the steep banked track of the "Lion Motordrome" — one of the preferred midway attractions of the Hennies Bros. Shows which will be seen all during the coming week opening Monday night on the Badger avenue circus grounds under the auspices of the Veterans of the Foreign Wars.

Hennies Bros. Shows Will Appear in City Under V. F. W. Auspices

Final arrangements have been completed for the engagement in Appleton during the coming week of the Hennies Bros Shows under the auspices of the Veterans of the Foreign Wars.

The engagement will start on Monday night beginning at 7 P. M. and every evening during the coming week ending Saturday July 24 at midnight.

The augmented midway with its many shows and the latest rides will be located on the Badger avenue circus grounds where there is plenty of room for the many and varied midway attractions.

Twenty high class feature shows and eighteen of the latest riding devices are enumerated among the attractions for old and young during the coming week.

Among the many high class offerings will be the "Casa Madrid" a pretentious night club revue staged in a beautiful canvas theatre with a company of thirty talented singers, dancers, enhanced by the Collegians orchestra and featuring Betty Lane, "bubble dancer" and a beauty chorus.

Other notable offerings will be the Circus Side Show Freak Congress; the Palace of Wonders; Bill Kemp's "Lion Motordrome," Harlem on Parade, colored night club revue; "Jungle-land" and its giant reptiles; Monkeytown and its educated simian actors; the "Beef Trust" revue with its cast of hefty damsels of the "Gay Nineties" era; "Artists and Models" posing girl revue; the Crime exhibit; Bug House; Fun Revue; and many other stellar attractions. # Retain Shares in Good Companies, Babson Advises

Explains Why He Expects To Stay Bullish for Number of Years

BY ROGER BABSON
Babson Park, Mass.—Bankers and brokers doubtlessly commit many sins. We all do for that matter. It is not their fault, however, that people reach for stocks when the market is high and active, as in September, 1929, or July, 1933, and because people refuse to pick-up stocks when the market is low and dull, as during the last few weeks. The sad fact is that the vast majority of those who purchase stocks use no sense or logic as to when to buy. They buy only when stocks are high and boiling. They should invest when stocks are low and listless. That means that now may be a good time to buy.

Why I Am Bullish

For over thirty years I have studied the Babsonchart of Business Conditions. The compilation of this measuring-stick of business has cost me many hundred thousands of dollars. This chart has a normal line representing the growth of the country. Above this normal line are black ink prosperity areas, such as existed from 1912 to 1914, from 1916 to 1920, and from 1923 to 1929. Below the normal line are red-ink depression areas, such as existed from 1914 to 1916, from 1920 to 1923, and from 1929 to 1936. During the last year the country has crossed normal and is in the beginning of another black-ink prosperity area.

It is true that ordinarily the stock market reaches its peak in the early part of a prosperity area. No one, however, really knows what this "early part" is until the entire area is completed! All depends upon the length of the area. If the new area is to last some years, then we certainly have not reached the stock-selling point. In view of the extraordinarily long depression area through which we have just passed, I believe that the new prosperity area is good for some years to come. Money is exceptionally cheap, a big housing shortage exists, and several new industries are on the point of becoming big businesses.

What About Politics?
Many readers will say: "Your statistics do not prevent Roosevelt from killing the goose which has

PROPOSE DIVISION OF HOLY LAND

Land of the prophets, home of many great religions and of mankind's early history, the Holy Land continued restless in the face of the proposal of a British commission that it should be partitioned as shown between Jew and Arab. This map indicates the divisions and the portion which would remain under British mandate to give neutral outlet to the port of Jaffa. The age-old conflict between Jews and Arabs continued to express itself in dissatisfaction with the proposal.

just again started to lay a few golden eggs." My answer to this is that the president cannot now afford to do so. He wants this country to enjoy good business more than you or I, or anyone else. The Democratic party can remain in power only so long as business remains good. The president has tried various quick schemes from the NRA to concerning the gold market. He sees that all these have failed.

Mr. Roosevelt has now come to the conclusion that the best way to have good business and reduce unemployment is to let business make all the money it reasonably can and then make it distribute the money through greater taxes, higher wages, and especially enforced dividend payments. This is now the official administration program. It may not appeal to wealthy people. It may keep them from buying stocks, forcing them to buy non-taxable bonds. This program, however, should greatly benefit the great mass of newspaper readers. It means that you can buy stocks in good companies and be sure of good dividends, and yet not have the income taken away from you by high income taxes.

Balancing the Budget

During his first administration, President Roosevelt was not interested in balancing the budget. He was willing to have the government go deeply into debt, believing that this exceeds debt could be paid off during the next period of prosperity. Now this time has come for paying off the debt. Only one way exists for doing so and that is with increased federal taxes. Federal taxes come only from imports, sales, profits, and incomes. To get taxes from these sources, business must be good. The administration's whole financial program will collapse unless we have prosperity from now on. The president's future depends solely thereon. Another decline means death to the Democrats. "Why, then, does not the president stop these strikes?" you ask. Probably one reason is that he owes something to Lewis and is, perhaps afraid of him. Another reason is that the president honestly thinks higher wages will mean more purchasing power and ultimately result in better business. Moreover, in this he may be right. The main reason for his apparent inaction is that business, stock prices, and especially steel output were increasing too fast during the winter. Some check was needed. Although the president has temporarily hurt business by flirting with the CIO, he is extending the property area by so doing. Good times will now last longer than if business were allowed to hum along as it was doing earlier in the year.

Is Europe a Menace?

Some of you pessimists will say that another World War is liable to start at any time in Europe, or in the Far East. I do not say that such a war will not come some time. But I am sure it will not come this year. There can be no general war so long as England and France continue their present policies. Japan would like to unite with Germany and fight Russia, but neither can afford to do so just yet. Mussolini is making a lot of noise; but so does any animal when out on a limb. Some say England is cowardly; but let me tell you she is very, very wise. Englishmen are now buying American stocks.

Only three men are threatening the peace of Europe today,—viz., Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini. Reliable and confidential information has convinced England that sooner or later one or more of these dictators will die or see his crazy dictatorship blow up. This means that England need only to wait and let the people of these countries eliminate the present danger. In the meantime, England is working day and night to re-arm and again become the world's greatest power. Anyhow, I am going to England in September, and will then send you some first-hand information from there. In the meantime, do not let anyone get away from you stocks of good American companies not handicapped by big bond issues or heavy cumulative preferred issues.

Over 75 Children At Playground as Activities Start

Seymour Kiwanis Club Provides Equipment At Fair Grounds

Seymour — The official opening of the playground at the fair grounds on Monday brought out about 75 children throughout the day. The turnout on Tuesday exceeded this number. On Monday and Tuesday only softball and directed play were available, but on Tuesday William Row and C. A. VanVuren of the boys and girls committee of the Kiwanis club drove to the WPA Craft shop at Oshkosh, where equipment was purchased for the grounds. Additional equipment has been purchased from local firms.

Among the games now available are softball, baseball, croquet, volleyball, pingpong, bean board, dartball, checkers, cribbage and numerous small games including blocks for the smaller children. A table loom has been furnished where the children may learn to weave, if they wish. Swings are being erected and tennis courts are being put in condition for use. A 10-passenger roller ride has been ordered.

Joseph Hammen is in charge of the playground and the project is under WPA, with the exception of the equipment cost, which must come from the community. So far the Kiwanis club has furnished that.

The entire community is invited to the grounds and take an interest in the work. It is a very suitable place for the children to play under supervision.

Six New Teachers Hired by School Board at Neenah

Robert Ozanne to Teach European History at Senior High School

Neenah—Contracts for six new teachers to fill vacancies of teachers who have resigned for various reasons have been signed by the Neenah board of education. Resignations of the six retiring teachers have been accepted.

Robert Ozanne, son of Dr. and Mrs. I. E. Ozanne, Neenah, will teach European history at the senior high school. He succeeded William Marsh who has accepted a position at Madison Central High school.

Dan Cupid promoted a vacancy in the kindergarten at the Washington school and it will be filled by Miss Eleanor Huntington, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Miss Hilma Karlberg, who taught the kindergarten last term, has resigned and will be married this month to James Schaefer, Neenah.

Teacher Second Grade
The new Washington school second grade teacher will be Miss Marion Mainland, Stevens Point, whose contract has been accepted by the board. She succeeds the former Miss Eleanor Eberlein who was married this summer to Isaac Heden.

Miss Elizabeth Hauser, Onalaska, will replace Miss Doris Litch as instructor of the first grade at McKinley grade school. Miss Litch has announced her engagement to Graydon R. Beech, Mountain City, Nev., and it is expected that the pair will be wed this summer.

Gays Mills, Wis., will send Miss Lillian Clark to take over the sixth grade at the Kimberly grade school. The class last term was taught by Miss Mary Summerton who has retired.

Cupid scored once more on the Neenah faculty and an opening was left in the second grade at the Lincoln school. It will be filled by Miss Jeannette Topp, Clintonville. The former Miss Lydia Kleaser is now Mrs. Kenneth Rausch.

High School Band Presents Concert

Menasha Unit Leaves Tuesday for Lions Convention in Chicago

Menasha—Before several hundred people, the Menasha High school band gave its first concert of the summer on the city square last night under the direction of L. E. Kraft.

The St. Mary's High school band gave the opening concert a week ago and the two organizations will appear alternately on Thursday nights.

Citizens saw the band go through the maneuvers and heard it play the selections last night that are required for the contests to be held next week during the convention of Lions International in Chicago.

Officially representing the Wisconsin delegation, the band will be one of 100 to appear at the convention. It will be entered in the marching contests on Soldiers Field and the concert competition in the Chicago opera house.

The train bearing the band and the Wisconsin delegation will leave at 8 o'clock next Tuesday morning, the opening day of the convention which will close next Thursday.

Church Guilds Will Sponsor Garden Party

Menasha—Tickets for the benefit garden party which the members of the Altar Guild and Guild of St. Mary's, St. Thomas Episcopal church are sponsoring in the garden of the homes of Mrs. Chester Shepard, Nicolet boulevard, are on sale from Mrs. Silas Spengler, 348 Park street, and Mrs. F. J. Aylward, Ninth street, Neenah. The party is to begin at 6:30 with boxed picnic luncheons included in the admission price. Bridge will be played. Mrs. John Klinker is chairman of the luncheon committee and Mrs. Spengler is general chairman.

Association for Deaf Plans Outing Sunday

Neenah—The annual picnic of the Fox River Valley association for the Deaf will be held in Riverside park Sunday. Games and contests will provide entertainment during the afternoon. The picnic has been held in Oshkosh in other years but last fall, at an association meeting, plans were made to picnic in Neenah this summer. A large attendance is expected.

BEGIN TENNIS MEET

Neenah—The junior boys' city championship tennis tournament was started at 9 o'clock this morning at the high school courts. Last year the tourney was won by John Schmeider and Mowry Smith.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

New Summer Schedule At St. Paul's Church

Neenah—Summer schedule of services at St. Paul's English Lutheran church will be effective Sunday, according to the Rev. Samuel H. Roth, pastor, who announced that the first service will be held at 7:30 Sunday morning and the second morning worship at 9 o'clock. Sunday school will meet as usual at 9 o'clock. The sermon topic of the Rev. Mr. Roth for Sunday morning services will be "The Christian's Aim and Purpose." The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Roth are vacationing now in northern Wisconsin and upon their return, the Rev. and Mrs. S. H. Roth plan to take their summer vacation.

Merchants Play At Grand Chute

Neenah Team to Cross Bats
With Celler Champs in Valley League

Neenah—The Neenah Merchants will play Grand Chute Sunday afternoon when they will cross bats with the Northern Valley cellar champs at the Chute baseball park.

Although the Merchants dropped a 9 to 3 decision to Green Bay last Sunday, the team is still in the running with seven wins and four losses representing second place in the league standing. The Chute squad has three wins and eight losses and is in the league basement.

Orv Schultz or Bob Jerome, Neenah hurlers, will be in straining at the leash to get into Sunday's fray and Jimmy Christoffer will get the starting call behind the plate. Other veterans who will see action are K. Handler, E. Gartzke, G. Haufe, B. Handler, R. Babcock, L. Gammy and H. Cheslock.

Neenah Society

Neenah—Mrs. Ray C. Bart, 663 Winneconne avenue, entertained Thursday evening in honor of daughter, Miss Naomi whose marriage to Harold Thomack will take place Wednesday. Cards were played during the evening and prizes went to Mrs. George Krause, Miss Mildred Harman, Mrs. Wilbur Klutz and Mrs. A. Clark. Miss Bart received many gifts.

Mrs. Pauline Jape and Mrs. Myrtle Martin won prizes in schafkopf, Mrs. Emma and Mrs. Al Schroeder won prizes in bridge and Mrs. Dan Hoyman won prizes in whist at the Neenah Eagle auxiliary card party Thursday afternoon in Eagle hall. Mrs. Adolph Blair won the guest prize. The next game in the series will be held Thursday, July 22.

Mrs. Will Callahan, route 2, will entertain members of the Determined Workers Bible class at a picnic at her home Saturday afternoon. Mrs. George Schultz is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Fifty members and guests attended Circle 3, Ladies Society, First Methodist Episcopal church, social meeting at the farm home of Mrs. A. W. Williams, route 1. One of town guests included Mrs. H. Weber and Mrs. C. Wasbyke, both of New Jersey who are visiting Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. James A. Hunt who is a guest of her sister, Mrs. I. E. Ozanne. Mrs. Hunt lives in Detroit, Mich.

Ten members of the Twin City Business and Professional Women's club and three guests held a picnic at Menominee park in Oshkosh Thursday afternoon. The evening was spent socially. Mrs. Ida Tauber, Mrs. Maude Rodgers and Miss Luna Levings were in charge.

Mrs. Fred Gallou was named delegate from the Women's Missionary society, First Evangelical church, to the annual convention at Loma Vista July 29-Aug. 1 at a meeting yesterday afternoon at the church. A social hour followed the business session.

An overnight stop will be made at Calumet harbor where a campfire program will be conducted. Contests and swimming will entertain the boys. The group will go to church at Fond du Lac Sunday morning.

Leaders who will make the trip are Mr. Williams, Stan Menning and Captain Lyle Stip. Members of the Brigade who will circle the lake are Roger Boughty, Oliver Evans, Robert Kollath, Richard Meyer, Lester Redlin, Kenneth Wood, Alfred Sturgis, Robert Fehrl.

Repaint First Floor of Congregational Church

Neenah—The first floor in the First Congregational church, including the parlor, Sunday school, kitchen, recreation hall, and gymnasium, is being repainted this week as part of the work in the complete redecoration of the church which will be completed by September 1.

A new wood tile ceiling in the church parlors will be built, pipes in the heating system insulated, and valves installed in the radiators.

Neenah Man Going to Conservation Meeting

Neenah—Representing Winnebago county at the fish and game regulations meeting of the Wisconsin Conservation Commission July 20 will be Arthur Hass, Neenah. Lonnie Pauling, Winnebago, and Charles Koehn, Oshkosh.

A meeting of representatives of 12 counties was held last night at Oshkosh to organize material to be brought before the commission. Winnebago, Outagamie, Green Lake, Fond du Lac and Calumet counties were among those represented.

Neenah Woman Given Decree, $30 Support

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—Gertrude E. Single, 243 First street, Neenah, was granted a divorce this morning on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and desertion from James E. Single, Florida in county court by Judge D. E. McDonald.

The couple married at Waukegan, Ill., Oct. 27, 1924, and have two minor children. Judge McDonald gave custody of the children to Mrs. Single, ordered the defendant to pay $30 attorney fees and $30 a month support money. She was also given the household furniture.

Form New Group To Develop Fox And Wolf Rivers

Expect Concerted Drive
For Reservoir, Dam Construction

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—Concerted action of the city officials of the Fox river valley appeared certain here today, in a drive to secure government aid to build reservoirs and dams on both the Fox and Wolf rivers, costing millions of dollars, and said to benefit every resident in the area, with the formation of a Fox and Wolf River Improvement and Conservation association, headed by Mayor C. A. Wiechering, Oshkosh.

For the first time since 1886, the year the Association for the Relief of High Water was formed, water power users, owners of riparian property, conservationists, and the United States War department have been at swords points over the issue of the water level in Lake Winnebago and at the many power dams on the Fox river.

At the meeting Thursday in the municipal courtroom, called by Mayor Wiechering, representatives from seven other communities attended, to form the new organization. Those attending were: W. G. Kelley, Van Dyne; A. H. Cooper, Kaukauna; Allan Tripp, Oshkosh; L. F. Jones, Fond du Lac; H. T. Weichering, Kaukauna; E. G. Sonnenberg, Menasha; and Phillip Vogt, Appleton.

To Meet At Kaukauna
An organization meeting of the new association will be held at Kaukauna Monday, July 26, Tripp, president for the Association for Relief of High Water, said. Following this meeting, called by Mayor Wiechering, another will be held the first week in August.

The plan meeting favor of the organization is known as the "Ferguson" plan, providing for lowering all channels below Menasha so as to permit the drawing of water at any time to a point 24 inches below the Menasha dam.

Mr. Tripp asserted today that the taking over of the work by the new organization meant the possible reformation of his association from its active work.

"It is time this work is carried on by all the cities and towns, as well as the water power interests, instead of just by the former riparian owner," he said. "This group is unanimous favoring the government erection of reservoirs to store this water, and the cost is of such magnitude that cities as well as the government should bear the cost."

Mr. Tripp likewise envisioned a Gulf-of-Mexico to Great Lakes route for barges, as part of the plan. He said the United States government already recognizes this, in providing for deepening the Green Bay channel, costing $120,000, and the new lock at DePere, costing $75,000.

Wants Barge Route
"If we want factories in Oshkosh we must have a rail and water freight rate," Mr. Tripp said. "Oshkosh manufacturers need this rate to compete with southern labor. When barges can come from Green Bay, pass through Oshkosh, go up the Fox river to Portage, into the Mississippi, then Oshkosh will prosper."

Mr. Tripp said the entire project while costly, eventually would not cost the taxpayer a dime, for by building five more dams below Prairie du Sac, on the Wisconsin river, the revenue from electric power would return $1,000,000 per year.

Navigation already has increased in the last five years, Mr. Tripp said on the lower Fox river 25 per cent in anticipation of the barge route.

Boys Brigade Bicycle Riders to Circle Lake

Neenah—Ten members of the Boys Brigade will start on a 90-mile bicycle trip around Lake Winnebago at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. The group will return to Neenah late Sunday evening.

An overnight stop will be made at Calumet harbor where a campfire program will be conducted. Contests and swimming will entertain the boys. The group will go to church at Fond du Lac Sunday morning.

Leaders who will make the trip are Mr. Williams, Stan Menning and Captain Lyle Stip. Members of the Brigade who will circle the lake are Roger Boughty, Oliver Evans, Robert Kollath, Richard Meyer, Lester Redlin, Kenneth Wood, Alfred Sturgis, Robert Fehrl.

Neenah Kiwanians Get Prize for Achievement

Neenah—The Neenah Kiwanis club has been awarded the achievement prize in the blue division for clubs in this district for 1936. Other clubs in the blue division are Viroqua and Beaver Dam. White division club are Ironwood, New Richmond and Waupun; Silver division clubs are Stevens Point, Manitowish and Janesville; and gold division clubs are Racine and Milwaukee.

Gilbert Softballers Play Strangers Tonight

Menasha—Gilbert Paper company will meet Strang Paper company on the Seventh street diamond and Mill Supply will play Edgewater at Jefferson park in two Industrial Softball league games tonight at 6 o'clock.

With a record of nine victories and no defeats, the Marathon Paper company has a substantial lead in league standings.

Twin City Births

Neenah Flower Gardens Reflect Patience, Skill

Neenah—Asking "Many, quite contrary" how her garden grows today is out-moded for it is gardens with years of experience in landscape and gardening work who landscape barren spots into formal or natural gardens on the estates of Neenah residents.

Patience and skill in working with soil, planning and planting, watching the first green shoots appear and then seeing cosmos, zinnias, regal lilies, tobacco plants, sweet eustoma, thistle plants, phlox and roses as well as the variety of annuals unite to make the most colorful gardens of any season holds something of great satisfaction for gardeners.

Of three Neenah gardeners, interviewed recently, two of them, Hugo Huebner who is employed at the Mowry Smith home in Nicolet boulevard and Peter Minton who is gardener for A. C. Gilbert on E. Wisconsin avenue, admitted that roses were their favorite flowers but Louis Eisenach, gardener at the Mahler estate, E. Forest avenue, has no favorites, he likes all the flowers.

Rambler, Tea Roses
It is an old fashioned garden that Mr. Huebner has planned at the Smith home and the natural beauty of its setting gives the appearance of color and loveliness that only nature can produce. Rambler and tea roses have turned the terrace into a charming old fashioned arbor while petunias vie with each other color supremacy in the walk from the home to the lake.

Rose bushes should be pruned this time of year according to Mr. Huebner, the ground worked up and fertilized, preferably home manure, used so that when fall comes, the bushes will bloom again with the same beauty of the June blossoms. Mr. Huebner arranges lemon colored lilies near lavender and blue annuals while figulus, taking their own time about growing, pole lazy heads above the shorter flowers.

Mr. Huebner who has been doing landscape and gardening work for nearly 20 years, admits he likes flower gardens better than vegetable gardens but he takes pride in the corn, broccoli, egg plant, tomato, peppers and other vegetables in the large vegetable garden. He has planted corn every week until July 12 in order that corn will be available for many months. He advocates staking tomato plants for best results.

Experimental Bid
Caryopteris, liliatris, thalictrum, polygonatum, thymopsis caroliniana and dictamnus caucasicus are just a conglomeration of words to the laymen which he finds difficult to pronounce but to Louis Eisenach, gardener at the Mahler estate, they are the names of new flowers with which he is experimenting this year in the experimental bed that adjoins the formal vegetable garden.

Formal gardens predominate the Mahler residence except around the natural swimming pool and about the house itself. In the formal garden, candy tuft in orchid, white and blue present colorful border for the background of zinnias, California poppies, delphiniums, caryopteris and the regal lilies on whose stems, as many as 17 of the fragrant blossoms are clustered. Tea roses and baby rambler also lend beauty to the formal garden with lobelia, looking like a miniature violet, adding its deep blue to the yellow and orange of the nasturtiums above it.

Pansies, forget-me-nots, sweet William, pinks and a variety of other annuals together with honeysuckle, Edelweiss and lilyrums play a major role in transforming a miniature rock terraced garden at the rear of the house itself.

Miniature Falls
By the natural swimming pool on the estate, Mr. Eisenach has fashioned miniature water falls that, together with the colorful flowers that grow in profusion from the crevices of the rocks and along the banks of the pool make the area one of the most attractive and natural garden spots on the property.

An underground sprinkling system give ample water to the flower gardens and lawns when needed.

In the green house where during the winter, Mr. Eisenach grows chrysanthemums and carnations, gardenias and potted lapanos, a small flower that resembles a piece of old world mosaic, are ready for parties or table decorations, Mr. Eisenach studies and plans. Gardening is not only his job but his hobby.

Peter Minton, who was a gardener in Germany and Holland before coming to America, has been employed at the Gilbert home for about 10 years.

Like Mr. Huebner, Mr. Minton admits he likes roses best and in the two formal gardens on either side of the wide lawn below the terrace of the home, tea roses and rambler roses are proof of his favoritism. Mr. Minton will be taking up the rose bushes late this fall, laying them flat and covering them with dirt until spring comes again.

Sweet William, snap dragons, white and purple phlox, larkspur, poppies, fuchsia, nicotiana lilies, and regal lilies are some of the flowers that do much to add to the colorful pageantry of the Gilbert gardens.

In the fall, canterbury bells, larkspur, pinks and poppies will bloom in just as much beauty as the mid-summer annuals are blooming now.

Nasturtiums and calendulas in boxes and pots give a sunny but cool backdrop to the terrace while in the experimental and vegetable garden, white lilies in potted plants are being groomed to take their place on the terrace with a short time. Over 3,000 gladiolas are about ready to blossom in this garden and 25 different colored snapdragons form another bed near the gate. The gladiolas and snapdragons are cut every morning for bouquets in the house.

Study Milwaukee Playground Work
Neenah Directors Shown Through Parks and Recreational Centers

Neenah—Armin Gerhardt, Ivan Williams and Gordon Alberts, Neenah playground supervisors, yesterday visited Milwaukee playground and recreational centers to obtain constructive ideas for the Neenah summer program.

Sonnenberg at Flood Meeting

Represents City on Water Control Group at Oshkosh

Neenah—Edward G. Sonnenberg attended a meeting of the new Fox and Wolf river valley flood control organization at the city hall in Oshkosh yesterday afternoon.

Sonnenberg was appointed as this city's representative on the body by Mayor Walter E. Held at the city council session. Mayor Held was present at the first meeting several weeks ago.

Seasonal control of water—a matter particularly significant to sportsmen, farmers, and holders of industrial riparian rights—is the organization's prime objective. It has been proposed to build reservoirs at the headwaters of rivers that flow through this region.

It was decided at yesterday's meeting to hold election of officers at a later date. Mayor Charles Wiechering of Oshkosh, temporary chairman. The next meeting will be held in Kaukauna Monday night, July 25.

Menasha Society

Menasha—Mrs. Henry Oelke, Mrs. Frank Dumbek and Mrs. John Jagerson won the grand prizes in the Menasha Eagles' auxiliary card tournament which ended Thursday afternoon when the finals games were played. Mrs. John Ryan, Mrs. Ernest Pontow and Mrs. Gertrude Rohe won the prizes during the afternoon games. Mrs. Viler Herman was in charge.

Junior Group, Ladies society, First Congregational church, will meet Monday evening at the church.

Banta Team Wins in Tilt With Edgewater

Menasha—In one of the best industrial Softball league games played on the Seventh street diamond this summer, the Banta Publishing company defeated Edgewater 4-1 last night.

The Banta squad scored first, getting two runs in the third inning on Edgewater errors. Schinck hit a three-bagger in the fourth inning for Edgewater and then scored on an infield out.

With his team leading 2-1 at the beginning of the seventh, Smith, Banta centerfielder, smacked a homer with one on base. Edgewater's first two batters in the last half of the inning got hits, but were left stranded on base when two of their teammates went down on strikeouts and the third on a pop fly.

CCC Aspirants to Get Physical Exams Monday

Menasha—Youths in the Twin Cities who have applied for entrance into the Civilian Conservation Corps will be given their physical examinations at Oshkosh Monday afternoon, H. M. Bishop, relief director, said today.

Winnebago county's quota has been set at 40 and applications are now being received at the various relief headquarters. There is room for a few more applicants from the Twin Cities, according to Bishop.

Veterans will be given their examinations for entrance into the CCC on Wednesday, July 28, according to a recent announcement by William H. Miller, county service officer of this city.

Aldermen May Act on Ninth Street Contract

Menasha—A regular meeting of the city council will be held next Tuesday night, July 20, in the city hall. It is probable that the new contract between the city and the town of Menasha regarding the maintenance of Ninth street from Tayco to DePere will be read.

At the last meeting, it was agreed between Ben Derby, chairman of the town of Menasha board, and the council that the city street department would maintain that portion of the street, paving and repairing it, for $150 a year.

Gold Label Victors In Softball Contest

Menasha—The Gold Labels defeated Bergstroms, 4-0, in a softball game played last night on Washington park in Neenah.

The Labels scored one run in the third inning and three in the fifth when Knoll hit a home run with two men on. Batteries for the winners were Knoll and Kraus.

A game at Wausau is scheduled for the Gold Labels tonight.

Menasha Jaces Will Join Appleton Outing

Menasha—The Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce has invited members of the Menasha organization to attend a picnic at High Cliff park Monday afternoon and evening.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate 75 members from Appleton and 30 from this city at the picnic. The men will gather at the park at 4:30 in the afternoon.

Board of Review Will Meet Monday Morning

Neenah—Neenah assessment rolls which were open to taxpayers since Tuesday, were closed today. Complaints will be heard at a meeting of the Neenah Board of Review to be held at 10 o'clock Monday morning in the council chambers in city hall.

Menasha Gridders Building Muscles on Variety of Jobs

Menasha—Girding themselves for autumnal gridiron wars, the fourteen returning letter men at Menasha High school are busy building up their muscles this summer by carrying golf bags, working at construction jobs, and cutting lawns, and one of them is even jerking sodas.

Fred Yaley, tackle, the husky soda jerker, who asks "What'll you have?" to those who frequent the Memorial building, but he doesn't confine his physical exertions to pushing the plunger marked "chocolate". He finds plenty of time to better his wind and put new snap in his biceps by swimming and playing tennis.

Perched on a platform over a raft at the Smith park swimming beach, Eldon Grimm, who holds down a tackle berth and is the other co-captain, is helping build the new Menasha High school, doing good hard manual labor out there on Seventh street where the structure is rapidly being completed.

Joseph Michalkiewicz, center, is hauling golf bags around the Ridge-way Golf club course and Jack Finch, halfback, is developing his arms turning the steering wheel and opening and shutting doors on a taxi.

Two boys, Donald Drucks and David Bukysky, are working with their fathers, the summer. Drucks, converted from guard to fullback, is busy with plumbing and the installation and repair of heating systems while Bukysky, a guard, handles bricks and other materials on construction jobs.

Mows Lawns
Behind a lawnmower, Henry Landsman, is polishing up the push that he'll need for the summer. Lawnmen out of the way when the blue-jay backfield comes driving over his tackle position. He's keeping lawns and gardens and himself in shape this summer.

Donald Blaney is increasing his leg power by delivering messages on a bicycle for the local telegraph office. This fall he'll be delivering messages to his teammates in a huddle, for he's a quarterback, the guy who calls the signals.

Two of the young football players, Robert Floyd and Clifford Heiss are busting about a gas station this summer, lifting water buckets to thirsty radiators and getting plenty of action on grease jobs. Floyd is a halfback and Heiss a quarterback.

Wooden Ware Employee
Mervin Schenck, star center, is working in a wooden ware plant. William Heckrodt, guard, is living an outdoor life at Gardner Dam. Boy Scout mecca, and Lawrence Malouf, guard, is getting ready for those October fullbacks by hand labor on the construction of a new addition at one of the paper mills.

There's nothing soft about the life that any one of them is living, and judging from the preparations they're making for football season there'll be nothing soft about the way they'll attack their opponents at the bidding of Coach Nate Calder.

Six Ridgeway Golfers In State Amateur Meet

Neenah—Six members of the Ridgeway Golf club are representing the Twin Cities in the North-eastern Wisconsin amateur golf tournament being held at Green Bay this week. They are Herbert Stinski, Daniel Tuchscherer, Lawrence Spalding, Anton August, Carl Lemberg and Michael Sakalaris.

HEALTH CENTER TUESDAY

Neenah—Twin City Visiting Nurse association will sponsor a health center at Roosevelt school in Neenah from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Tuesday, July 20.

ROOM AND BOARD

By Gene Ahern

MURDER ON THE BLUFF BY ROYAL TULLOCH

SYNOPSIS: A mysterious shot kills Jude Blinshop, my old flame, at the start of our stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts. A series of strange attacks occurs. Then we find the body of Michael's aunt Martha, a stout Victorian, is shot in the shoulder, and nearly finished with sleeping powders. The Skipper, Mike's tall, tweedy younger aunt, disappears. Cook, William, and the chauffeur, and Annie, the maid, suspect Higgins, the old butler. I lock him in his room, half believing him the killer. Then I find Mike arguing with his glances, Gay Palmer.

Chapter 45
'LOOK FOR THE LOFT'

CLOSING the door behind me, I leaned against it. The person who had forced the door of Jude's room to lure or to force Norman Farrington out toward the bluff must have known that the old man was there and that he had used a key to get there. No one else should have known of the existence of that key. And Norman Farrington's son had gone in search of it and found it!

He was standing there gazing at me as a man might gaze at a snake which he had caught at him in the middle of Fifth avenue.

"You heard that, I suppose?" Michael's voice was bleak.

"Yes." Suddenly, unreasonably I thought, "We are three characters in a play. Nothing has happened. Nothing will happen until we remember the lines."

Michael's hand shot into his pocket and dragged out something which he thrust into my own hand. I found myself staring down at the skeleton key from Norman Farrington's pocket, staring at it and wishing violently that I had never seen the damned thing.

"How did you know it was there?"

"Guilt!" Michael's voice was hurt, not bitter. And Mike was no actor—was he? The radio stunted—

Gay answered to his rescue. "This is ridiculous! I was being a sep. That's all."

"So you think?" This time Michael's voice was harsh. "But Jimmie doesn't. Look at his face."

"Hold on, Mike," I said. "I haven't said a word. Answer me decently, can't you?"

He looked at me and suddenly his face crashed into a grin. "All right," he said, "I went snooping around. I saw the brown lock on Jude's door and just happened to think that my father had a key in his pocket. Yet, we could be pretty sure that you were right about his fall not being an accident. You see, if he was the guy who crowned William, he must have gotten through that door after it was locked. I saw you examine it afterward, and it was all right the second time you locked it."

"I didn't believe him. He was following my train of thought. Would I didn't believe him. Would anyone else be able to trust and nobody after this ghastly mess was over?"

"Good." The friendliness of my voice was a little lesson in hypocrisy all in itself. "That was what I was thinking. We're letting ourselves get too jumpy."

Gay sprawled on a sofa. "I'm cured!" she sighed gustily. "If I ask another question, warning my neck: 'Who has a cigarette?'"

Watching Michael's lighter flare, observed, "A few more questions and we'll all go gaga. It's time this outfit did a little relaxing."

But we didn't do any too well at it. There we sat, three people who 8 hours before would have sworn in a stack of Bibles that we would have trusted each other till the end of time. And we hadn't—and didn't.

I was distrustful of Mike. Gay had precipitated the whole scene because she shared the feeling. And Mike, if he were innocent, could have taken that key for only one reason—to prevent the murderer's finding it. If he had been sure that neither of us was the murderer, he would certainly have told us of his discovery. If he were innocent—if he had been sure.

IF IT: If the word went a weary rhythmic refrain in my head the little Tessie Blake and her menacing husband, about the inadvisability of looking for a new apartment until our plans for the summer were more definite.

Hysteries With Trimmings

The conversation dragged, dwindled and finally expired. Coherent thought, it would seem, expired with it. If I tried to think about the Skipper's whereabouts, the probable guilt of the Millers obtruded upon the picture. If I tried to come to any conclusion about the Millers, I immediately thought of Higgins. And so it went. Out of the long silence came Michael's voice.

"They had trouble with Cook after you went out. Hysteries with all the trimmings."

I jumped at a loophole for escape. "Cook?" I said. "Hysteries?" I'll just have a look at her. Be right back."

"Meaning that we'll see you at breakfast?" demanded Gay. "Right!" William, his face decidedly strained, opened Cook's door.

He didn't seem to have any intention of letting me into the room. "She's better, sir. I guess she'll be all right. Has Miss Barbara been—?" He left the question dangling.

"No," I said shortly. "Do you mind?" And I elbowed past him.

Cook's hysteries had been genuine enough. Her face was ghastly. There were great sagging niches under her eyes and her chir was quivering painfully.

"How are you now?" I tried to sound kind.

All of her remarkable volubility was gone. She played restlessly with the covers without looking up.

"I ain't so good, sir." It was the weak, exhausted voice of a sick woman. "I ain't so good."

Well, considering the state she had been in when she had prepared dinner, that was not at all surprising.

"It's nearly morning now. It will soon be over."

"Yes," closing her eyes. "Nearly morning."

I waited for William to close the door after me. Then I stepped across to Higgins' room, found my key, knocked softly, and went in. The old man had been sitting on the bed, head in hands and full-dressed. His face was haggard.

"It's only I, Higgins," I said, sitting down beside him. "Don't be frightened. I came to see how you were."

"I'm doing very well, sir." With a start, I realized that he had been crying.

"Higgins," I said. "I don't for minute believe that you are guilt, and I'm trying my best to prove that you're not. Do you believe that?"

For a fleeting second his eye rested on my face, but they immediately looked away.

"Yes—Mr. Jimmie," he said shakily.

I put a hand on his shoulder. "You almost told me something once," I said. "Tell me now. No one can hear us, and it may be important."

"I can't, sir. It ain't that I don't trust you. I'd trust you like would Mr. Michael himself. It ain't that at all, sir."

"Then what is it, Higgins?"

"I don't know. I can't say. I don't believe that I was, and I don't believe that would be awful. Awful!"

"I found out how wrong I was. I can tell you nothing, sir."

"Can't you tell me what you found out? It might be just as important."

"No!" The fierceness of his answer made me jump.

One Last Desperate Try

Lighting a cigarette, I got to my feet and began to pace the small room. His head in his hands, the old man seemed to forget my existence. He was not guilty. But I knew who was—or thought he was. He was withholding evidence—evidence that I had to have right then I looked at my watch. It was 4:30.

I made one last desperate try. "Miss Barbara is alive." All that conviction I could muster rang in my voice. "We know that for fact, Higgins. But unless she's found within the next hour, she may not be."

He got to his feet like a man

Home-Made Electrical

Fences are Dangerous

Louis Luebke, chairman of the Wisconsin chapter of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors today warned farmers against using home-made electrical fences. Pointing to their danger he said an 8-year-old girl was killed recently at Sterling, N. Y., when she came in contact with a charged fence on her father's farm while bathing her feet in a pond. It was understood the fence was home made.

A committee of the Wisconsin Industrial commission is making a study to set up standards of manufacture and use of electrical fences.

Mrs. Neville Coleman, England, refused to sit at a table set for 13, dined alone, and was stricken with a fatal heart attack halfway through her meal.

I ALWAYS SAY "KELLOGG'S" BEFORE I SAY "CORN FLAKES"

"I've discovered that I never gain anything by shopping for corn flakes. I just say 'Kellogg's.' Then I'm sure that I'm getting the best."

No imitation has ever equaled the flavor and quality of Kellogg's Corn Flakes. They're made better. Taste better. Packed better.

Ready to serve. Always oven-fresh in the patented WAXTITE inner wrapper. At all grocers. Served in hotels and restaurants everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

SAY "Kellogg's" BEFORE YOU SAY "CORN FLAKES"

Missing Fliers Might Find Food On Small Island

Eight in Phoenix Group Vary From Sand Bars To Tropical Havens

Washington—If Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan really found a haven on a South Sea isle, what chance have they to stay alive until help reaches them?

It depends on which island they reached. There are eight islands in the Phoenix group, comparatively near tiny Howland island, for which the fliers were heading when they disappeared.

Sand Piles
None of the eight is inhabited. They vary from sand bars with just enough food and water to keep two people alive for two or three weeks, to tropical islands with coconut palms.

Three of the isles—Phoenix, Enderbury and Birnie—are nothing more than scrubby stretches of sand that have grown up inside circular coral reefs. Scraggly brush covers the surface.

But the fliers could dig in the sand somewhat back from the water line and get enough drinking water to keep them alive, says Samuel W. King, Hawaiian delegate to congress. He was in charge of the U. S. navy's expedition which surveyed those islands in 1923 and 1924.

The water would be brackish, says King, and might make them both slightly sick but it would prevent the agonies of thirst. Furthermore there are frequent flurries of rain.

Poison Fish
There would be only one edible dish—crab—but that would be plentiful.

Fish may be found in lagoons in the center of Phoenix and Birnie. Pounding ocean waves deposit them there. The catch is, the fish are poisonous.

But take the bigger islands: Sydney, two miles long 14 miles wide and 20 feet high. It has wild ducks and coconut palms.

Canton, nine miles long, from 50 to 600 yards wide, 10 to 20 feet above sea. It, too, has coconut palms, which are both food and drink because of the milk inside the large nuts.

Gardner, birds, birds' eggs, rats and crabs.

Hull, green turtles and coconut palms.

McKean, coconut palms.

Dangerous Reefs

Just getting to shore, however, would be a tough job in itself if a plane came down to windward of one of these island havens.

Both current and wind drive ceaselessly against one side of most of the islands, sending a long, pounding surf up on the beach.

To reach land would require a dangerous swim through the surf and over jagged coral reef just below the surface of the water.

And the sharks? They aren't such a danger, says King—they only attack a comparatively still object.

Weyauwega Residents On Auto Trip to West

Weyauwega—Fred Harden and daughters, Marie and Neida and Alvin Neidhold, Jr., left Thursday morning on an automobile trip through the west, during which they expect to visit Yellowstone Park, Pikes Peak and the Black Hills. They expect to be gone about a month.

Miss Evangeline Sovde of Pittsburgh, Pa. former case worker for the Waupaca group, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zimdas on Wednesday. Miss Sovde is engaged in the same line of work in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Myron Mather was hostess to her bridge club on Wednesday evening. Winners at auction were Mrs. L. J. Steiger, Mrs. Chester McCarthy and Mrs. John Sherburne.

The Contract club met with Mrs. George Classon Wednesday afternoon.

High Honors were awarded to Mrs. N. A. Jardine.

Mrs. William Crist entered St. Elizabeth hospital Tuesday and submitted to an operation Wednesday morning.

Frank Sponholz and daughter, Doris, and mother, Mrs. Martha Sponholz, and Mrs. Theresa Schultz, all of Milwaukee, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Stahlberg. Mr. Sponholz and Mr. Stahlberg were buddies in France and until this visit had not seen each other since June, 1919.

L. S. Pagel and Miss Marion Chocklette of Washington, D. C., arrived Tuesday to spend a month's vacation with the former's mother, Mrs. F. A. Pagel, and other relatives.

Allen Landrey of Chicago is a guest at the Edward Carpenter home.

Clintonville will play the Weyauwega baseball team at the fairgrounds here Sunday.

Word was received here of the death of Mrs. E. E. Tinker, Chicago, mother of Mrs. Lillian Shreve, Weyauwega. The body was taken to Hillsboro, Wis., where the funeral was held Wednesday.

The cocker spaniel and Angora cat of Lieut. Robert Meyer rode from Pasadena, Calif., to Fort Wayne, Ind., in the same cage—without once exchanging hot words.

Dim Lights for Safety

FINICKY APPETITES OFTEN ONE RESULT OF CONSTIPATION

When nothing tastes right, and you don't eat as you should, the trouble may be common constipation. Poor appetite is one of its symptoms. Others are headaches, listlessness and sallow complexions.

Constipation is usually due to "low-bulk" meals. Serve your family Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—a generous source of "bulk."

Within the body, this food absorbs twice its weight in water, and gently exercises and sponges out the system. How much better than taking pills and drugs!

ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Three times daily, in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into appetizing muffins, breads, etc.

Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
KAUKAUNA—Flashing field play that smacked of Class AA ball and pounding out hits that must have resounded all the way to Manitowoc, the Kaukauna Brewers administered a 7 to 1 shellacking to Manitowoc here last night in a Northern State league game. It was the first game of the second round for the clubs.

Reports have been current for several days that the Ships, who tied with Kaukauna for the first round title, wouldn't play the Kaws under lights when the bunting was at stake. And after last night's exhibition on the part of the Kaws and lack of exhibition on the part of the lake shore team, the Brewers won't even be able to whisper night game at the Ships.

But whatever the lake shore aggregation, the folks taking in explaining the defeat, it can't blame the lights for Hammy Powell playing such dazzling ball at short for

SET PLAYOFF DATES
The first round playoff in the Northern State league, featuring Manitowoc and Kaukauna, will open on Sunday morning, July 25 at Manitowoc. The second game will be a night contest, July 26, at Kaukauna and the third game, if necessary, will be played on Saturday, Aug. 7, at the city winning on the flip of a coin. Plans for the playoff were completed last night at Kaukauna.

the Kaws, handling anything and everything that came his way, for Baldy Eggert scooping up everything around first base; for Vondraek and Zelinski performing in a stellar manner at second and third, respectively, and for Rader cutting out the old college try to grab a fly in back of third base with one hand after a great run.

And those hits!

And they won't be able to say the lights caused Howie Rader's big bat to suddenly come to life and smack out three hits in five tries, one for three bases or for stealing third base while Joe Vnuk was winding up; for Baldy Eggert leading the Brewers with three for four, one a double and another a double only because Baldy hit one of the light posts in center field about half way up and the ball bounced back into the lot; or for Zelinski hitting one that bounced over the fence and which went for only two bases as a result; or for Zetinski, Peck and Vondraek getting two for four.

They'll probably blame the lights for getting only six hits off Carvenah, two in the first seven frames, but they won't admit that it was infield play which caused

Ryan Gets Four Doubles for Brews

And Milwaukee Downs Kansas City by Score Of 9 to 5

Chicago—Toledo's Mud Hens were right on the Columbus Red Birds' tail feathers in the tussle for the American Association leadership today, and the turnstiles at Swane Field were clicking merrily.

The Hens moved up to within a half game of the pace-setting Columbus club last night by winning the series opener, 5 to 2, before 6,847 spectators.

The finals not only watched their favorites win, but were treated to a near fight when Enos Slaughter, Red Bird slugger, and Flea Chifton, Toledo's second baseman, doubled each other around after a double play in which Slaughter and John Kline were wild.

Shortstop Bloddy Ryan, hero of the New York Giants' 1933 National league pennant drive, equalled a league record by banging out four consecutive doubles to pace Milwaukee to a 9 to 5 victory over Kansas City. The record was set by Jourdan of Minneapolis in 1925, and has been tied several times.

Bloddy Ryan remained in third place, a game behind Toledo, by whipping St. Paul, 5 to 1, in the introduction of night baseball in the South park. Beive Bean held the home to five hits.

Louisville suffered its twelfth straight defeat by losing to Indianapolis, 11 to 7. The Indians whaled three pitchers for 18 hits.

IT NEVER RAINS—INDOORS
New York—The stock line at the end of Madison Square Garden publicity handouts announced summer betting boots in air-conditioned surroundings reads: "It never rains in the Garden—no sweat, no heat, no mosquitoes, no flies, no mosquitoes, no flies, it is only the cool place in town."

Three Appleton Golfers in N. E. W. Championship Flight

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

Here's another chance for youthful ball players. The St. Louis Browns' farm, Johnstown, Pa., will hold a baseball camp for a week at Studebaker Athletic Field, South Bend, Ind., starting July 19. The camp will be devoted entirely to try-outs for young players between the ages of 17 and 21 years of age who are at least 5'9" tall and who weigh 150 pounds or more. No fee is required to attend the camp. The only requirements are that out-of-town boys be able to finance their trip to South Bend and their living expenses while there, and that all boys bring their own shoes, gloves and uniforms, and present themselves in person.

Every player attending the camp who has sufficient ability is assured the opportunity to play professional baseball and with experienced scouts and officials supervising the camp, it will be almost impossible for any real future big leaguers to escape the eyes of these men. A card requesting information will be answered furnishing complete details, by addressing same to John J. Maher, care of the Johnstown, Pa., Baseball Club.

Earl Rogers, who you'll recall as one of Appleton's pro boxers a few years back, comes to the front with a 34-inch, 10-pound argument that there are fish in Shawano lake. Earl caught a northern pike with the aforesaid dimensions a few days ago on the south end of the lake while staying at the B. E. Meyerhoff cottage.

That raid the Wausau team of the Northern league made on the Northern State league hit Little Chute, too. It took Jimmy Leopold, who has been playing some nifty ball at second base for the Chuters.

Heinie Grob, who used to play for Oshkosh in the old W. I. league and who later went to the Giants and Cincinnati and now scouts for the Giants, visited in Oshkosh the other day. He renewed old acquaintances and held a reunion with Lester Stevenson and Bruce Noel, a couple hurlers back in the olden days.

Tut Gaffney can't take it anymore. He umpired the Kimberly Appleton Legion junior baseball game the other afternoon and while the kids played in a shower, more or less, Tut stood behind the pitcher calling 'em from the shelter of an umbrella.

Bray of the Moose softball team robbed Al Schoebauer of a safety the other night that was plain robbery. Al hit one down Bray's way and the latter just put his foot in front of the bounding ball, it hopped straight into the air where Bray grabbed it with one hand and tossed Al out at first. Al was fit to be tied.

Eddie Lenehan down Madison way is having his troubles. His Blues haven't been doing so well and Eddie, who usually battles for everything for a player and who doesn't like to see one criticized, has finally admitted some of the lads are taking things too easy. As a result he's read the riot act to about four of them and either they "the old college try" or get off the team, Eddie can't stand a loser, mentally or in the vicinity of the gate.

Durso and Garrison Draw at Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(AP)—Johnny Durso, 1391, Louisville fought a ten round draw with Jimmy Garrison, 1371, Kansas City in the windup of a boxing card here last night.

Durso substituted for Dominic Mancini of Pittsburgh, who was taken ill.

Al Schwartz, 1581, Milwaukee, beat Bobby La Monte, 156, Chicago, in six rounds; Robert Brooks, 149, Milwaukee, in six; Bobby Fadner, 1283, Madison, won a four round decision from Jim Mason, 1253, Muskegon, Mich., and Nick Saunders, 1681, Milwaukee, knocked out Bill Gordon, 1741, Chicago, in the first round of a four round opener.

BIRD HAZARD RACING

New York—Birds can be as much of a menace to the safety of auto race drivers as they are to airplane pilots.

Ernst Delius, German driver who came to this country for the George Vanderbilt cup competition on Long Island's Roosevelt raceway, tells of the bird he ran into while running 130 miles per hour recently at Adenau. Blinded momentarily as the force of striking a mountain thrush broke his goggles, he smashed his car into a wall and it overturned.

He escaped with a badly injured knee.

Seymour Nine Plays At Home on Sunday

Seymour—Gillett will come to Seymour Sunday with a much improved team. It is rumored that all players of last year's team are back for the second half and that should make it one of the most feared clubs in the Northern Land O'Lakes League. One new player, an outfielder, will be added to the Seymour team for Sunday. Strings are out for two good men and if one of them is signed, the Seymour outfield again will be the class of the league.

Batting averages for the members of the Seymour team for the first half are as follows:

	AB.	R.	H.	Pct.
Palmer	20	0	8	.400
Ralph Puls	39	8	15	.385
Wanie	11	2	15	.364

Nickodem	49	8	16	.327
Hartjes	38	3	12	.316
Roy Puls	40	7	10	.250
Krake	16	0	4	.250
Wurdinger	26	6	5	.192

7 Millers to Lead A. A. All-Stars in Battle With Birds

Columbus Meets Picked Squad of League Players on July 27

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—Seven members of the Minneapolis Millers will lead a picked team of the American association against the Columbus Red Birds in the league's annual all-star game here the night of July 27.

The Red Birds, who won the honor of staging the game by being in first place the morning of July 15, will be the first eastern team to entertain since the game was instituted four years ago. The 1934 and 1935 games went to Minneapolis and the 1936 tilt to Milwaukee.

Five Columbus players chosen on the official all-star squad selected by members of the American association chapter of baseball writers of America must be replaced because they will play with the Red Birds.

Replace Players

Johnny Rizzo and Enos Slaughter will be replaced in the outfield by "Dusty" Cooke of Minneapolis and Goodwin Roson of Louisville. Dick Siebert will give way to Harry Taylor of the Millers at first base, and Pitchers Max Macon and Bill McGee will be replaced by a pair of Toledo southpaws, Joe Sullivan and Alta Cohen.

The All-Star squad announced today consists of outfielders Carl Reynolds of Minneapolis, Henry Steinbacher of St. Paul, Cooke and Roson; Taylor at first base; Andy Cohen of Minneapolis at second; his teammate "Red" Kress at short; Charley English of Kansas City at third; John Riddle of Indianapolis, John Peacock of Minneapolis and John Pasek of St. Paul, catchers; and Charley Wagner of the Millers, Forest Pressnell of Milwaukee, Sullivan and Cohen, pitchers.

Two more players will be named by Manager Al Sotheron to complete the squad and another manager will be named as Sotheron's assistant.

Oshkosh Admitted to Central State League

Oshkosh—The Oshkosh Indians, former members of the Northern State league, will take over Omro's place in the Central State league, Omro, having dropped from the loop. Oshkosh will meet Ripon in its first contest here next Sunday.

The Indians will possibly use several of Omro players along with two other clubs in this city to place a real club on the field. There was only one drawback in that Omro was defeated by Waukegan last Sunday and the Oshkosh management will refuse to take over that defeat if it has any bearing on the pennant in the second half.

Butte des Morts Team Second in Whiting Cup Play

First and Second Rounds Of Match Competition Scheduled Today

GREEN BAY—Three Appleton golfers landed in the championship flight of the annual Northwestern Wisconsin Golf association tournament here yesterday, as 159 players competed over a wind-swept Oneida Golf and Riding club course. Appleton was represented by 25 players, the second largest contingent at the meet.

The three, who launched match play in the first round this morning, are Dan Steinberg, Jr., who shot a 40-41-81; Donald Sawyer, good for a 40-41-81; and F. C. Steinkne, with 42-41-83.

The Pairings

Championship flight first round pairings follow: Sonny Schriber, Steinberg REELECTED

Green Bay—(AP)—Harry E. Barrows, Sheboygan, was re-elected president of the Northwestern Wisconsin Golf association last night.

Other officers re-elected were Dan Steinberg, Sr., Appleton, vice-president, and M. A. Carroll, Oshkosh, secretary-treasurer.

The Sheboygan Pine Hills course was selected as the site of the 1938 tournament.

Oshkosh, 73, versus Bob Testwuide, Sheboygan, 83;

Dan Steinberg, Jr., Appleton, 81, versus Dr. M. E. McMillan, Green Bay, 82;

Bob Gage, Green Bay, 82, versus Herb Stinke, Sheboygan, 83;

Jimmy Lohr, Sheboygan, 80, versus C. L. Hornung, Neenah, 83;

Don Sawyer, Appleton, 81, versus F. B. Cornelison, Green Bay, 83;

Don Greb, Clintonville, 82, versus Al Steffen, Sheboygan, 83;

H. E. McGee, Green Bay, 82, versus Harry Masse, Green Bay, 83.

A. C. Witteberg, Green Bay, 75, versus F. C. Steinkne, Appleton, 83.

The Butte des Morts 5-man team placed second in the team competition with 431 strokes, the event being won by Oneida's veteran team, which totaled 410. Members of the Appleton team and their scores were: Ralph McGowan 88, Dan Steinberg, Jr., 81, O. K. Ferry 90, August Brandt 89 and Gordon Derber 85.

Team competition was for the Whiting cup.

Charles (Sonny) Schriber, Oshkosh, the defending champion, was medalist, carding a 39-34-73. His closest rival was A. C. Witteberg, Oneida, with 39-37-76. These were the only two to break 80.

A stiff wind bothered almost all of the golfers and accounted for the comparatively high scores. As a result many of the Appleton players reported with totals which barred them from match play in the flights indicated by their club handicaps. Others decided not to return for competition today.

Gordon Derber went into Class B flight and was scheduled to play Don Smith this morning in the first 18-hole match. George Baldwin went into Class C and was paired with H. H. Menzel, Stevens Point, while Joe Shields landed in Class D and was paired with William Reiss.

In the senior division Dan Steinberg, Sr., was paired with J. C. McGrath; J. J. Plank with Jack Van Oss, Green Bay; and John Neller with Louis Schriber, Oshkosh.

Two of the other Appleton scores were R. E. Wolter 84 and Heber H. Pelkey 85.

First round matches in all classes also were played this morning and second round this afternoon. Semi-finals in all divisions are slated Saturday morning with finals Saturday afternoon.

The Maxwellton Braes club at Bailey's Harbor and the Clintonville Riverside Country club were officially accepted as new members of the association, increasing the organization's roster to 19 clubs.

ENTER STATE MEET
Tommy and Jimmy McKenny of Butte des Morts are the first two members of the club to enter the state amateur golf tournament at Maple Bluff Madison, starting July 26. Both have held club honors and Tommy was city open champion for several years.

Butte des Morts golfers wishing to enter the amateur meet must do so by July 20, Herbert Pelkey, club secretary, announced today. Entry must be certified by Mr. Pelkey.

Ten-Mile Row Boat Derby On Fremont Water Program

FREMONT—A 10-mile row boat race, the first ever held for the Wisconsin state championship, will be one of the new and exciting events on Saturday afternoon, July 31, as part of the program of water sports at the tenth annual Water Carnival to be held at Fremont. On Sunday, Aug. 1, the state championship outboard motor speed boat races will take place, with twelve events scheduled for both amateur and professional drivers in classes M, A, B, C, and F. Pilots from a dozen mid-western states will compete for the more than $800 offered in prize money and awards.

The Row Boat Derby is rich in prize money, $75 will be offered the winners, $25 for second place, $15 for third, and $5 each for fourth, fifth, and sixth. Carl Abraham, Fremont, is chairman of the Row Boat Derby and will furnish complete information concerning conditions and requirements, together with entry blanks. This race is a forerunner of the National Row Boat Derby of Winnebago and at Oshkosh on Labor Day.

Open To Anyone

All people eighteen years of age and over from Wisconsin and the surrounding states will be eligible to compete. There will be two entrants in each rowboat who can alternate at the oars. The state derby will be mechanically timed for the start, each mile lap and the finish, and will be conducted under the supervision of the Outboard Motor Regatta association.

The Fremont Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the annual water carnival, is planning a bigger show than ever this year. Prizes and trophies in all events will exceed $1,500. Last year's crowd of 12,000 is expected to be topped on Saturday and Sunday, July 31 and August 1, 1937. The Carnival provides Wisconsin people, together with outside tourists and visitors, an opportunity to view a grand spectacle of water sports, motor and row boat races, fancy diving, log rolling contests, surf board riding, and other manner of entertainment.

As the final climax on Sunday there will be the beautiful Venetian Night parade in which a mile long flotilla of illuminated and decorated boats float majestically down the Wolf river picturing and dramatizing the pioneer days, historical and timely events, of this picturesque land of lakes and woods and rivers.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Dale at Merchants.
Grange at Shiocton.
Hortonville at Black Creek.

Dale and Greenville Merchants, both with eyes on the second round title in the Outagamie County league, will battle Sunday afternoon at the Merchant diamond in the feature game of the week.

Dale started the round last week by blasting out an 11 to 10 win over Shiocton, with whom it tied for the first round title. The Dale team will send Lefty Kaufman to the mound against the Merchants while Dats Crowe probably will counter with Cliff Burton.

Greenville Grange will invade Shiocton and Hortonville games. The Grangers will send Kuzenski out against Lathrop for Shiocton, while Hortonville, providing the cannery doesn't claim the boys, will pitch Buchanan against Black Creek's Miller.

Fauk and Branchford to Hurl for Dairies' Squad
George Fauk and Howie Branchford will share hurling duties for Schaefer Dairies tonight in a clash with the Forster squad at a Clash field on E. John street. Horn and Bruggemann will take turns receiving. Eddie Mitchell and Tesch will pitch for Forsters, with Heibel traveling. The Forsters will travel to Waupaca Sunday.

slated Saturday morning with finals Saturday afternoon.

The Maxwellton Braes club at Bailey's Harbor and the Clintonville Riverside Country club were officially accepted as new members of the association, increasing the organization's roster to 19 clubs.

ENTER STATE MEET
Tommy and Jimmy McKenny of Butte des Morts are the first two members of the club to enter the state amateur golf tournament at Maple Bluff Madison, starting July 26. Both have held club honors and Tommy was city open champion for several years.

Butte des Morts Blind Bogy Won by Ed Hilfert
Ed Hilfert won the blind bogy event, Jim Whalen turned in low gross score of 42 and Charles Pond turned in low net of 33 in the men's golf program yesterday afternoon and evening at the Butte des Morts golf club. More than 60 players took part in the program. Good-fellowship prizes were awarded to H. Schmalz, T. Drollhagen, Ernst Mahler, William Rounds, Hy De Bauser and Art Haskins.

Grant and Budge To Play Singles Against Germans

Former Selected Over Parker for Davis Cup Competition

LONDON—(AP)—Captain Walter L. Pate today designated Bryan M. (Bitty) Grant of Atlanta, and Don Budge, of Oakland, Calif., to play singles for the United States against Germany in the Davis cup inter-zone tennis finals at Wimbledon. Budge will team with Gene Mako, of Los Angeles, for the doubles play.

The Little Atlantan, who has not been playing up to his usual game because of a severe cold since he arrived in England, will open the semi-finals when he meets Baron Gottfried Von Cramm tomorrow.

Budge will play Heinrich Henkel as soon as the first match is out of the way and on Monday Budge and Mako will meet Von Cramm and Henkel in the doubles.

On Tuesday, Grant and Henkel will lead off in the first of the two final singles matches Budge and Von Cramm will ring down the curtain on the interzone finals.

The winner in the series will go into the challenge round, meeting Great Britain for possession of the Davis cup at Wimbledon July 24, 26 and 27.

Parker Considered
It had been thought that the non-playing skipper of the American team might name Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, for the second singles assignment.

Grant played in the North American zone finals against Australia but was taken ill with a severe cold on his arrival in England and did not play as well as Parker did at Wimbledon. Parker was eliminated in the semi-finals by Budge who trounced Von Cramm in the Finals.

Budge, teamed with Mako, to win the doubles and captured the mixed doubles with Alice Marble. He is rated by English experts as the best American since Bill Tilden.

Germany won the European zone finals four matches to one from Czechoslovakia to get into the inter-zone.

"It was a hard choice between Grant and Parker," Pate said, "but I obviously thought Grant was playing slightly better tennis and deserved it."

He said that the Atlanta star was still about a pound overweight from his recent illness but not enough to affect his play.

took part in the program. Good-fellowship prizes were awarded to H. Schmalz, T. Drollhagen, Ernst Mahler, William Rounds, Hy De Bauser and Art Haskins.

The winners started scoring in the first inning and had five runs and enough to cop in a few minutes. Brandt started on the mound for Harrimans and was replaced by Doerfler. Cramer had an easy time on the mound for the winners with only one inning in which more than three men faced him.

Reider, Tilly and Steger socked home runs and Choudoir had a triple for the Koba squad. Reider had a perfect day at bat getting two hits in two trips and scoring twice. Gregarious had two hits and four trips and scored one run and Stojakovic had two hits in three trips at the plate besides scoring a run.

Kobals scored five runs in the first inning, two in the third, five in the fifth and two in the sixth frames. Harrimans never threatened the Koba lead. Cramer fanned 11 batters and walked 2. Doerfler struck out two and walked nine and Brandt fanned one and gave up three walks.

SMOOTH SWINGING

In order to create a smooth swing, balance and poise are essential. This means that the weight of the body should be so regulated throughout that the swing fundamentals are performed without friction. If there is a tendency to lose one's equilibrium, no matter how temporarily, it may throw the stroke out of its accustomed groove. To guard against this occurring, a practice similar to that illustrated above is recommended. Therein certain positions arrived at after a slow motion swing are held in a set position for a short period of time. While oftentimes the motion of the stroke will carry one past these stages with no loss of rhythm, it is rather difficult to hold the pose without tilting in some measure. The mere perseverance of maintaining the position will strengthen the muscles of the body and bring one to that much nearer perfect balance. After awhile it will become second nature and enable one to swing with renewed confidence, knowing that he has eliminated the danger of over-balancing. One particular point should be stressed and that is to keep the head in a stationary position, with the chin pointed back of the ball no matter what position the club is held in.

most of the damage for "Sonny" took things comparatively easy. The Ships used the lights for a lot of alibis and when H. Rosinsky at short couldn't keep track of a couple hard hit balls, he resigned in favor of McCambridge, who, incidentally seemed to do pretty well in the same position.

A large crowd saw the exhibition and it got an eyeful of one of the best games of the season on the part of Kaukauna and roundly applauded the boys for their speed, fire and effort. Radder's great catch and Powell's work at short drew all kinds of comment.

Schoepke hit hard on the mound for Manitowoc but he was pounded rather freely until the fifth when he was waved out and Joe Vnuuk waved in. Schoepke allowed 11 hits while he toiled, fanned 2 and walked 2. Vnuuk allowed four hits, all in the seventh frame, fanned two and walked one. Carvenough of the Kaws fanned five, walked one and allowed a double in the third and a single in the fourth during the first seven frames. In the eighth he allowed a homer and single and in the ninth two singles. He seldom bore down.

Kaukauna counted six runs in the first frame. After two were away Powell hit a high foul to left. Lefty Sorrell, who, incidentally, is the great heavy ace of the Detroit Red Wings, and who misjudged badly, Hammy thanked him by singling to center.

Radder then chased Hammy home with a whistling drive to left center which skidded through the grass to the fence and was good for three bases. Baldy Eggert, scored Radder with a double to center and Zelinski bounced one over the fence and under the ground rules it too, was a double. Eggert scored on the hit. Zelinski went to third on Peck's single and then Vondrasek hit a high fly along the left field foul line which scored Zelinski with Peck holding third. Carvenough fanned to end the frame.

In the first of the third Gray doubled to center but the next batter, Scherer, hit to Powell who tossed to third and Gray was run down with Hammy doing the tagging. He then rifled the ball to Eggert at first and Baldy missed getting Scherer by the skin of the latter's teeth. The play drew a big hand.

Eggert hits One

Eggert got his drive at the light pole in the Kaw half the third and died on third base. The ball hit half way up the post and should have been a homer. . . . The best of the first saw Powell, Vondrasek and Eggert run in a double killing while the Kaw half the frame saw one run scored. Radder opened with a single to center. Eggert whiffed but Zelinski singled into left. Peck then whistled one through third into left and Radder scored and Zelinski went to third and Schoepke left the mound for the first time. . . . The side without further damage.

In the seven Radder turned in his great running, one-handed catch of Sorrell's fly and the Kaws later scored two runs on four hits. Radder again opened the frame and singled over second. Eggert breezed one through short and Zelinski fanned. While Vnuuk was tossing to Peck, Radder pilfered third base and Joe was so chagrined he balked and Eggert also moved up a base. Peck whiffed for the second out and Vondrasek hit one in front of the plate. Vnuuk rushed in to field the ball, fell on his car and Radder scored and Vondrasek got a hit. Carvenough then singled to center and Eggert tallied. Bowers lofted to end the inning.

Manitowoc got only one man as far as second in the first seven frames. In the eighth, Wilda, first up, got a hold of one and dropped it over the center field wall for a homer and the only Manitowoc run. Gray followed with a single but Scherer fanned and then Gospodarek hit a fly to left and Gray, thinking two were out, kept running and was doubled off first base as he stood flabbergasted over on third.

The ninth saw the Ships get two singles and Carvenough uncork a wild pitch but no runs scored.

Phil Wrigley Spikes	Rumors He May Make	Change in Manager
Chicago—(P)—Ailing or not, Charlie Grimm is still the manager of the Chicago Cubs, and Owner Phil K. Wrigley has no intention of making a change.
To head off rumors that Leo (Gaby) Hartnett who was in charge of the National League leaders when Grimm was forced to resign last year because of his chronic back ailment, Wrigley said the situation merely proved the Cubs have reserves in all departments.
"Hartnett's filling in for Grimm simply shows the Cubs have reserve strength," Wrigley said. "As captain, he was next in line when Charlie had to give up because of his ailment. If anything happens to Hartnett, someone else will fill in for him."
"As I see it," he elaborated, "the situation adds up to the same thing as if Stanley Hack were injured or ill, and Linus Fry took over third base. That's the spirit in which the club is being run."

Yankees Pound Tiger Pitching; Score Is 13 to 6

Cubs Go Out in Front
When Carleton
Downs Bees

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
THE Yanks are coming so fast they're even ahead of themselves. . . . The New York slaughter squad, specialist in making second-rate hash out of first-rate pitching talent, is not only on the way to another walk to a pennant, but appears headed for a bigger and better year than the record-breaker of 1936.

When they finished rewriting the record book last season, it was generally agreed that the maximum in fence busting had been reached for some time to come. But it seems now that Murderers' Row was only warming up.

For, taking this season's figures to date, and throwing in a few "angles" that don't appear on the surface, Gehrig and company are set to make more of a chopping block than ever of American league competition.

That fact stood out today as the Yanks coasted along on a 71 game lead, while over in the National league the Chicago Cubs were once again at the head of the parade, by virtue of a 5-1 thumping of the Boston Bees during yesterday's program. . . . That part which wasn't washed out.

As matters now stand, the Yanks have yet to enjoy their full variety strength this season, what with injuries, ailments and spring holdouts. In addition, they've only recently shot into high gear—their surge dating to the start of their last home stand. Despite those factors, they have already smashed out a total of 87 homers, thereby leading their record-breaking production for the same period last season, when they hit a total of 182 in 154 games. And they are boosting their league lead week by week.

Wallop Tigers
Every man in the lineup climbed aboard Detroit pitching yesterday as the swat squad clubbed out a total of 12 homers, including a stretch of six consecutive homers to ten games—nine wins and one tie—their longest in four years.

The Cubs, meantime, after spending a day in second place in the National league, went out in front again as Tex Carleton reasserted his jinx hold on the Bees in the only senior circuit contest that escaped the weather. The Giants, through enforced idleness, dropped back to second.

Except for the Yankees and the Cleveland Indians, who trounced Washington's Senators 6-2 as Hal Trosky poled his nineteenth homer, American league favorites found the going rough.

The sky-rocketing "Boston" Red Sox had an edge for five innings, but the St. Louis Browns put on a three-run surge in the sixth to come through with a 5-3 decision.

A couple of youngsters, George Caster and Earle Brucker, combined to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 2-1 win over the Chicago White Sox, thus ending a string of 16 games in which the Philadelphiaans had failed to break into the victory column. Caster handcuffed the slugger Sox with four hits, while Brucker belted in both of the A's runs.

Neenah Drugs Defeat

Coolerators by 10-6

Island Drugs of Neenah defeated the Lutz Coolers, 10 to 6, Tuesday night at the Commercial street diamond. The Neenah boys bombarded Greich from the mound with a 7-run scoring spree in the third inning. Greich replaced Greich and allowed only one hit besides marking up ten strikeouts. His mates, however, failed to come through. Kettering allowed six hits for the Drugs and struck out six men. Hein caught for the losers and Stecker made up the other half of the winning battery.

N. Y. Fight Body Going On Its Own Hereafter

BY JOE WILLIAMS
NEW YORK—The New York boxing commission today decided to operate on its rugged, individualistic own in the future in all matters of policy, thus jettisoning all trade treaties with associate national and international commissions. . . . "Except California" qualified General John J. Thelan, chairman of the commission. "They try to run things out there the right way and we are going to continue to play ball with them. But all the others are out. From now on we run New York boxing for New York."

There was scarcely any other attitude Mr. Medals—that's what the boys call the gallant general—could take after the kick in the withers his commission received from the Chicago fight rulers in the recent Louis-Braddock episode.

Next to the New York trio the Chicago commission, because it controls a rich promotional field, is the most powerful outfit in the country. As long as the Chicagoans worked hand in hand with the New Yorkers Mr. Medals' ultimatum meant something. The promoters, the managers and the fighters were kept in line.

But this year the Chicagoans not only ignored Mr. Medals but entered into a conspiracy which was destined to make the New York commission look titubantly futile and sappy in the end. Braddock jumped a contract here and was suspended. Theoretically the suspension applied to every state with which the New York commission had an agreement. High on the list was Chicago.

For the good of the sport, for the nobility of the cause, for the jolly old sanctity of the contract, the Chicagoans should have thrown an iron wall of the soldiery around its boundaries to prevent such a vile person as Braddock from getting within shooting distance of the whip. This would have been in harmony with the lofty principles of the commission doctrine in prize fighting.

Governor Horner Liked the Idea
Instead, Chicago, led by the governor of Illinois, a practical gentleman named Horner, said in effect, "What the hell, if the guy wants to fight Louis here, why not? Look at the tourist business we'll get. To say nothing of the tax money. Bring 'em on." The governor personally guaranteed the promoter he wouldn't have to lay out any ice or graft money for the politicians. It cost Tex Rickard more than $100,000 to put the fix in for the Tunney-Dempsey fight at Soldiers' Field on the lake front.

This time I'm told it didn't cost Mike Jacobs any more than he cared to give up. The state collected some $60,000 in tax money. The amount the visitors spent probably reached a quarter million, with refined water and cracked ice on the side.

Mr. Medals, still applying ointment to gaping wounds in his vanity, now ruefully admits Chicago gave his commission a more hilarious run around than Braddock gave Schmeling when he made his celebrated running broad jump. But like the fellow who took a practice swing on the gallows, this has been a lesson to him. In his best military manner he says, "Never again."

Lutherans, Lions Winners in Senior League Ball Games

Men's Club Beats Edisons In Slug Fest on Wash- ington School Diamond

New London—Four full teams turned out for play in the Senior Men's Softball league at Washington High school playground last evening with about 38 men taking part in the two games. The Lutheran Men's club beat the Edisons 20 to 18 and the Lions club team turned down Heinz's Independents 12 to 9.

The teams will exchange opponents for the games next Thursday evening at 6:30. The Men's club and Edison teams have well-established line-ups and it is expected the others will become nearly permanent after next week.

New London Squad Scores Seven Runs in First Inning to Win 16 to 9

New London—A picked team from the Junior boys division of the Washington playground softball league defeated a similar Weyauwega team, 16 to 9, in a game here yesterday afternoon. Rained out at Weyauwega Wednesday, the New London team will play a return game at Weyauwega next Tuesday evening under the lights.

Dick Kent started pitching for the New London boys but he became wild in the second inning and walked five batters for six runs. He changed places in the fourth inning with Glen Beckert who also walked a few but held the scoring to three runs in the last five innings. He hit the only home run of the game himself in the sixth inning. The local boys took a firm lead in the very first inning when they hit seven times and scored every one.

New London Society

New London—The Golden Hill Economic club of the town of Maple Creek will hold its annual picnic at the Walter Hieling farm Sunday afternoon. About 45 ladies are expected to be entertained. The committee in charge of entertainment is Mrs. George Pribbenow, Mrs. Perry Cornelius and Mrs. Raymond Anson. The social committee is Mrs. Peter Schetter, Mrs. Paul Fermanich and Mrs. Elmer Klug, secretary of the club.

The Tudafour club met at the home of Mrs. George Humble yesterday afternoon. Prizes were won by the hostess and Mrs. Frank Rice. In two weeks Mrs. Tom Smith will entertain.

Relief Office Adopts
New Schedule of Hours

New London—The New London relief office will conduct business only on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays beginning next week, it was announced yesterday by M. J. Stewart, relief director. Relief will be issued only on those days between the regular hours, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

On Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturday mornings the relief director will be occupied investigating relief cases. No relief orders will be issued on those days.

The new set-up was arranged on recommendation of the relief and finance committees of the common council. On the finance committee are A. R. Margraff, Otto Stern and Carl Linder; on the relief committee, Harry Emans, Theodore Thomas and M. J. Stewart.

New Softball Team to Play Fremont Tonight

New London—A Deep Rock service softball team has been organized of young players in the city to take part in out-of-town contests. Tonight the team will travel to Fremont to experience its first game in a contest with Fremont Merchants.

Included in the team roster are Herman Platte, Kenneth Fehrman, Phil Clark, Jerome Zaig, Carl Haese, Charles Nader, Rodney Platte, John Sofia, Emmett McIlraith, George Edminster, Robert Vost, Donald Hoier and August Beckert. The exact line-up has not yet been determined. Louis Barlow is doing the coaching for the club.

DENIES ROMANCE

Calmly puffing a cigarette, socially prominent Mrs. Nancy Hoyt Curtis is shown at the home of her mother in Bar Harbor, Me., after denying that a mystery trip to the Canadian border with 27-year-old James Baker, taxi driver, was for purpose of marriage. The Washington, D. C., writer is twice divorced and the mother of a nine-year-old girl.

New Book Teaches How to Live Well On Limited Income

Several New Volumes are Placed on Shelves of New London Library

New London—Among new books placed in circulation at the New London public library today are two outstanding volumes. The first, "Orchids on Your Budget" follows Marjorie Hillis' great success with "Live Alone and Like It", this time teaching wives and mothers how to live smartly within a limited income; the second, "Can't Happen Here" an imaginative novel by the clair Lewis depicting what he visions America would be like with a dictator. It is his prophecy based on the trend of American politics and a world bound for war.

Another book of timely interest is "Touring with Tent and Trailer" an informal account by authors Kimball and Decker giving all the hints necessary to make traveling and camping at night comfortable and enjoyable. They offer practical advice on the problem of equipment.

A piece of genuine and absorbing literature has been added to the junior readers department with the book, "Jungle Peace" written by the deep sea diver, William Beebe, who is director of the tropical research station of the New York Zoological society. This living account of nature close at hand deals principally with the jungles of the Guana regions in South America.

A story of adventure and mystery for the juniors, based on the international traffic in arms and ammunition, is "Wind in the Riggings" by Howard Pease. Three light fictions for adults include a western, "Beyond the Rio Grande" by William MacLeod Rain; and two reorders, "Beau Geste" by P. C. Wren, and "Freckles" by Gene Stratton-Porter. The latter is a popular and touching story of a homely, red-headed, one-handed lad in the lumberlost.

Children's new books are "The Book of Pets" "Little Indians," and "The Story of Ferdinand," the comical tale of a Spanish bull who didn't want to fight in the sporting arena.

Schlagenhauf to Deliver Sermon At Church Picnic

Expect 300 to Participate In Methodist Outing At Hortonville

New London—About 300 are expected to attend a picnic of the New London Methodist church at the Hortonville fair grounds Sunday, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. Ralph R. Holliday, pastor. Invited to the picnic are parishioners from New London, Stephentown, Bear Creek, and Hortonville.

Highlights of the picnic will be an afternoon service at the fair grounds at 2:30. The Rev. I. E. Schlagenhauf, district superintendent from Appleton, will deliver the sermon while the Rev. Holliday will conduct the service.

New London Methodists will meet at the church here for Sunday school and roll call at 10 o'clock in the morning and afterwards proceed to the fair grounds at Hortonville. A picnic dinner will be had at 2:30.

The parish picnic will replace the annual Sunday school affair and entire families will attend. Other than the Sunday school meeting there will be no regular services Sunday.

Starting the first Sunday in August the Sunday school department will adjourn for a 3-weeks vacation.

800 Farmers Attend Dairymen's Outing

New London—About 800 farmers of Waupaca county attended the annual county dairymen's picnic at the county poor farm in the town of Little Wolf yesterday, according to L. M. Warner, local agricultural instructor who attended the outing. The picnic is sponsored by the Waupaca County Livestock Breeders association.

Main speakers at the affair were Max Stueg, of the Dairymen's State bank at Clintonville and chairman of the agricultural committee of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, and Ben Rusey of the college of agriculture at Madison. The program opened at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued throughout the day with a picnic dinner, ball games and athletic contests.

Horse, Automobile are Involved in Accident

New London—A horse belonging to Martin Abraham and a car driven by Dick Schimke were involved in a slight accident near the Abraham farm on Highway 45 just out of the south city limits about 8 o'clock last night. The horse suffered an injured nose and the car was slightly dented by the impact. Horse and car both were going south when the accident occurred. The animal's injuries were treated by a veterinarian.

staggering into a warm house out of a blizzard.

"Are you sure of that?" he whispered hoarsely.

The pressure of my clenched fists was driving my fingernails into flesh. "Positive!"

"Then—then—" for one awful moment I thought he was going to strangle before he got the words out. "Don't—don't tell no one I said so. I ain't sure it's right. Look for the old loft."

I stared at him blankly. "Loft?" I echoed.

"Yes. Take Mr. Michael. He should be able to find it."

"James!" It was M. Farrington on the davenport. "Stop it this instant! What is it? Where are you going?"

I had scant time for entangling my wits with Queen Victoria!

"The loft!" I shouted. "The loft! The Skipper may be there." I had Michael by the arm and was tugging him in the direction of the door, but he held back.

"The loft?" he echoed. "You're crazy! There isn't any."

Higgins' last words were ringing in my ears. Take Mr. Michael. He should be able to find it.

"Another of your sudden inspirations, Jim?" came Gay's voice sweetly.

I seized Michael. "Don't lie to me!" I howled. "You're taking me there or I'll break your lousy neck!"

Michael threw me off easily. "Don't be a fool," he said quietly. "You're not going to tell me whether or not there's a loft in my own—His voice trailed off and his eyes suddenly widened. "Good Lord!" he said hoarsely. "There is a—Come on!"
